

Borderline Personality Disorder

BPD or JEZEBEL

Just when you thought everything was OK!

Spirit Realm series - Volume I
Second Edition

By Scott E. Hensler

Description of Book

This book on Borderline Personality Disorder is the first of a series on the Spirit Realm by Scott E. Hensler. This first book explains the demonic influences on the human mind resulting in BPD and other disorders even physical. The battle is in the mind concerning demonic attacks on both male, female young and old. The information supplied is from firsthand experience and over a decade of exorcisms performed to set BPDs and their families free from demonic strongholds and their curses. All are victims of demonic attack and no wrong is implied to anyone suffering from BPD, or any other mental disorders in this book. It is better to know the truth behind BPD and be completely set free from influential unclean spirits, then to be in torment for rest of your whole life!

The second book in the Spirit Realm series is titled “Second Heaven Invasion” and is a “Reference Manual for End of Days”. This book reveals the demonic influences on the whole world concerning the past, present and future events being demonically orchestrated. You’ll learn in this book series how to spiritually prepare for the coming Second Heaven Invasion, and how to prepare physically as well! Knowing and being prepared ahead of time is vital. This book includes deliverance for yourself and your children using prayer examples. Also included are spiritual warfare prayers and curse breaking commands. This book “Second Heaven Invasion” also instructs you how to stand against demonic hybrids in the last days!

The third book titled “Let My People Go!” addresses the religious stigma against the healing and deliverance ministry. Setting the captives free is part of the Great Commission of Jesus Christ and deliverance should be in all Christian Churches. However, they are not and so God’s people are just as captive to the demonic realm as the secular world if past sins have not been dissolved and curses broken. This book continues where “Second Heaven Invasion” ends.

You will find more spiritual warfare insight at ww.scotthensler.org

Copyright © 2012 - 2014 – Scott Hensler Network Ministries

All rights reserved. No part of this book shall be reproduced, stored in retrieval systems, or transmitted by any means without written permission from Scott Hensler Network Ministries or purchased as an eBook.

Table of Contents

Description of Book

Biographical: Author, Scott E. Hensler

Acknowledgments

References

The Spiritual Infection of BPD

Introduction

Demon Possession vs Demonized Define

Chapter 1 - What is BPD?

Chapter 2 - The BPD Spiritual Connection

Chapter 3 - BPD in a Christian Family

Chapter 4 - The Church and BPD

Chapter 5 - Christians can have Demons?

Chapter 6 - Where is God in all this?

Chapter 7 - What is Really in the BPD Mind?

Chapter 8 - BPD can have Psychic Abilities

Chapter 9 - Jezebel and the BPD

Chapter 10 - Liberal vs Conservative BPD?

Chapter 11 - Whose job is it to cast out demons?

Disclaimer

Scott E. Hensler Biographical

Scott Hensler has been dedicated to the Deliverance Ministries for over a decade. In his dedication to understanding the demonic issues that influence our lives he has devoted his ministry to teach and deliver all who will accept his findings and act on them accordingly. Scott entered the deliverance ministry in 2001, after experiencing first-hand demonic possession of a loved one and the destruction it caused on all, including himself. Deciding to search for answers he shockingly found that the Christian churches were not able to assist or help. He found the church unwilling to even address the demonic realm issues that Christians are facing today. He finally discovered a deliverance ministry in the Phoenix area that knew exactly what to do to eliminate the evil spirits and remove the curses. After seeing how God worked in his life after deliverance he has been dedicated to setting others free ever since.

Scott is also an active amateur radio operator (HAM radio) holding an Extra Class FCC license - KF7ZDT. His love of the hobby has become a passion to assure communication when times become hazardous and normal forms of communication are lost to possible EMP attack or solar wind storms.

At the present time, Scott runs and operates www.ScottHensler.org web site where you'll find information on today's spiritual issues and News articles about the last days. Scott also is active on BlogTalkRadio.com under "Scott Hensler Network" where he teaches and prays for others on air.

Scott has authored other books concerning spiritual issues: "Second Heaven Invasion" was released in 2014 as part of the Spirit Realm series volume II. Other articles and books are also available through Scott Hensler Network Ministries.

Acknowledgments

I would like to thank the Battle Proven Ministry known as Healing and Deliverance that the Church has so often rejected. For I truly believe I would not have survived the Post Traumatic Stress I received from being in relationship with BPD without it. Just knowing and understanding what was really going on in the spirit world allowed me to turn to God and let Him guide my path, and not take matters into my own hands.

"I would also like to thank my friend, Sandy, for editing and helping me to interpret such confusing explanations I offered of the spirit domain, and transferring it into understandable logic."

Scott E. Hensler

References

In chapter one, I reference from the DSM IV-TR by the American Psychiatric Association, which is considered to be the Bible of the Psychology, and has great insight to the medical definitions to describe mental illness. I also acknowledge the written context referencing BPD and the description of Possession Trance with DID, are from the DSM IV-TR as well.

References (1) Text and information was DSM-IV-TR by American Psychiatric Association (2004) Classification of Mental Disorders Retrieved from <http://www.psych.org/practice/dsm>

So, use man's information wisely and carefully, for it is man's interpretation of things unknown and not God's definition, explanation or understanding.

"The truth will set you free"

Ephesians 6:10-13

Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might. Put on the whole armor of God, that you may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this age, against spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places. Therefore take up the whole armor of God, that you may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand. NJK

Introduction

The Spiritual Infection of BPD

After more than eleven years of serving in the ministry of Healing and Deliverance, I repeatedly experienced what brought me here in the first place. And that is what is called by Psychiatric Professionals as Borderline Personality Disorder, or BPD as defined in the DSM-IV-TR (2004). There seems to be an epidemic of this disorder infecting both men and women in one form or another including Christian and non-Christians. You'll note that in the psychiatric world you'll find little explanations or treatment procedures for spiritually induced mental illness including their medical journals, or, even publicly recognized by the psychiatric professionals, thus ignoring the root cause all-together and the BPD never is fully healed through conventional methods which are humanistic.

I have on occasion run into those who have encountered spiritual events while working in the medical or psychiatric field, but would never talk about it until away from co-workers in the hospitals they worked in. All had some bizarre story that could only be explained as supernatural. The closest thing you'll find spiritually about BPD is several great books explaining the spirit of Jezebel and how it controls the infected and those who are in relationship with them; and the devastation that affects all involved from spouses, church members and family, not to forget the Bible's Old Testament pertaining to I Kings starting in Chapter 16. I am not saying that BPDs are Jezebels, but there is an incredible amount of similarities that one cannot ignore. I know as time goes on there will be more recognition of this disorder connected directly to the spiritual influences. I, through my own experience, will show with the help of the Holy Spirit that this is the only real cure through what is known as Healing and Deliverance. That this is the same as the Lord Jesus Christ himself commanded his Disciples and the church to do and not conventional worldly treatment. That is not the answer or was it ever intended to be. Certain drugs prescribed by psychiatrists appear to introduce sorcery through the spirit of Pharmacia and can sometimes turn on the BPD being treated, making the situation even more intense with psychotic out of control behaviors, by the BPD who already is overwhelmed with hurtful deep inner emotions. I have witnessed this firsthand and the spiritual confusion that takes place is heartbreaking. This is also challenging for Law Enforcement Authorities, who are trying to keep the peace that are not properly trained to deal with the mentally ill and can only relate to this situation as a criminal encounter and act accordingly, thus affecting the BPD and families with possible court action. Now they're in the legal system that never seems to go away. This disorder affects the whole world in more ways than anyone can imagine with financial loss and broken families.

Even dictatorial leaders of nations most likely have BPD or massively infected with narcissist spirits or both, and projecting onto their own countrymen their internal emotional turmoil. Inflicting pain and suffering on those who are not BPDs (non-BPD.) One confusing factor I see with BPDs is they can have talents, creativity, charisma, and are able to show loving caring attributes that would attract anybody to them at first. However, soon when the web of deception has surrounded the new victim, they find themselves with someone they had no idea was capable of destroying them at the drop of a hat.

There are no boundary lines, continent divisions, and tribes of people who do not deal with BPD, in one way or another. This includes Hollywood with past and present entertainment stars like Marilyn Monroe, who is said to have had BPD. When you have past abuse and rejection on children, you have an open door to the spirit world that will infect everyone involved. There is no separation between perpetrator and victim when it comes to spiritual infection through sin.

The spirits' names may change from one country to another, but they're still the same terrible demonic entity acting out their ugly nature, taking no prisoners. They take with them one main intent, and that is to destroy all of God's children in mind-tormenting ways. You may have never heard of some of the explanations or experiences I will offer. You may not agree or believe my writings. However, the fact is that this disorder does exist and is getting worse every day. Someone needs to expose the spirits behind BPD and remove them from those who are infected. We were called to do so by our Lord Jesus Christ, and the more that we are aware of these spirits the better we can then defend ourselves from their destruction and help others. Including the BPD!

Demon Possession vs Demonized Defined

This definition and description is only to define the difference between being possessed or demonized. Anyone who is mentally ill most likely is dealing with a spiritual issue (oppression) not necessarily possessed if there are no physical concerns with the brain from trauma, chemical poisonings or prior surgeries. The same with physical issues as well. However, also noting the possibly of psychotic episodes induced from antidepressants or certain psychotropic medications mimicking demonization because of ill side effects or complete mind altering hallucinations are common. From a misuse of certain drugs (prescription or non-prescription) is a form of Sorcery and can result in Pharmacial (divination/witchcraft using mind altering means to achieve enlightenment) which can open the door to demonization. Being hypnotized by a hypnotist can also open up doors to the demonic and one should never allow themselves to go under anything that puts their soul in a compromising state. Regardless of the circumstances if demonization occurs or in combination of mind altering drugs the unclean spirits being the demon(s) needs to come out of the individual suffering from any mental or physical torment so the mind and body can return back to normal. It is that simple. No need to be classified as Bipolar or Borderline when the Blood of Jesus Christ can set you free! That fact is the whole point of this book... nothing more.

With the introduction of man and fallen angel technological mind altering weaponry methods are now a factor in mimicking demonization. This technology is called Psychotronics ELF (skull to voice transmission) and is part of the MK Ultra CIA and Pentagon mind control projects. Other nations as involved as well. We have already seen this technology used to cause individuals to kill others in psychotic episodes. In combination of technology and demonization the future rise the Beast describe in The Book of Revelation is already in process. This makes removing a demon only one part of the de-demonization process with ELF weapons still inducing demonization behavior even after a demon(s) has been removed. This is a nightmare for both the demonized wishing to be set free and the deliverer minister (exorcist.) Intervention of this technology needs to be implemented now before the masses are subject to this demonic technology. This technology can force possibly thousands of people at once to be under the mind control of a single evil organization! I address this counter measure in chapter "When it all Collapses" in second book "Spirit Realm" series "Second Heaven Invasion". When you read this book concerning testimonies and examples of ill behavior there is a possibility of drugs or advanced weaponry being a part of the demonization occurrence.

The word commonly used in referencing someone having a demonic spirit in the gospels is "demonized" (one having an unclean spirit or oppressed by one), and sometimes also referred to as being "vexed" or under the power of a demon(s). The Greek word is pronounced "diamonizomai" (dahee-mon-id'-zom-ahee) meaning one being infected, controlled or oppressed by a demon. I use the term oppression to mean demons from the outside causing emotional or physical issues on one or more individuals with little or temporary legal right to torment. Instead of demons being inside the person doing the same, however with greater intensity by greater sin authority to cause real issues both physically or emotionally. The term possession was not necessarily part of the original gospels text. However, some translations over time are using all definitions and even in combination. Other terms not so well defined have slipped in taking away the seriousness of the consequences of sin that allow us to become demonized. Possession by true New Testament Greek definition does not mean ownership, but rather means to be under the power or influence by demonic entities(s). However, I must say that if one gives themselves over to Satan wilfully (Satan worshiper/follower) they are under ownership of the demonic world and are not of God's Kingdom. I will use possession strictly as an example of whom they belong too and as a high-level classification of demonization. I use a demon-scale system of 1 to 10 in regard to demonization of an individual when I minister deliverance to them. When demonization occurs on a scale of 1 to 2 it usually means only one or more demons, or few lower class demons; and the demons only having a nominal amount of legal right to infect the sinner because of forgivable sin. To full blown possession at the top of the demon-scale being 10 and possibly having hundreds of powerful demons (legions) in them, and around them, with the sinner willfully surrendering their souls over to Satan; with possibly no redemption having been turned over to a debase (reprobate) mind. Regardless of which level of demonization is diagnosed during deliverance, or the true origin of the original text as it was written. There still are only the two main categories I use in my writings if drugs and mind control weaponry are not a factor. These two categories are possession and demonization and have two distinct definitions as noted. Where demonization is redeemable and possession may mean all is lost! By using one in place over another has confused most Christians and non-Christians to the point of denying that Christians can have demons to avoid the stigma of being demonically possessed. When in reality demonization can take place in and out of the Christian Church and is more common than is realized or acknowledge. So yes, Christians can be demonized until delivered of the unclean spirit(s) in a process known in the secular world as exorcisms, and also known as deliverance in Christian Church!

There is also a misunderstanding by most Christians and secular individuals concerning demonization not just because of the mixing of words. But also because of man's teachings that claim this all ended at the cross, when in fact it really just started! Yes, Jesus Christ did complete the law and conquered death and hell taking back the keys that locked (bound) us as captives. By doing so Jesus gives us salvation and freedom that was lost in the Garden of Eden when we ask him into our hearts; however, we are also commissioned and empowered to carry on His work just as He did going about His Father's business.

In reality it is simple and clear the distinction between the two definitions and all of us through the Blood of the Lamb should be casting out demons and healing the sick regardless of what term is used. Noting that because of Hollywood movies and the Catholic Church teachings that demonization and possession have become seen as one to the average person when they are not. This confusion has also placed fear in believers to stay away from such things not knowing the difference between the two. Thinking by engaging demons as we were originally commanded to do we are crossing the forbidden biblical line and will fall by the demonic sword. Not so since we have been given all power and authority over the demonic for those who are in Christ Jesus! A demonic possession of a non-Christian believer is becoming more common as the end of days approaches and walking in the spirit of God (Holy Spirit) is your only protection against such people who have turned their souls over to Satan and his demons with themselves becoming the evil that is in them.

Fully possessed individuals are dangerous especially to our children! Until they are delivered and set free they are capable of hideous acts against all of mankind seen by God as wicked and they go about their father's business the devil. Even one who is demonized and rated high on the demon-scale and not possessed can be just as dangerous if greater sin has given full demonic control over the sinner; and the individual is no longer able to make rational decisions being no longer in control of their own will. Even though I use a demon-scale to determine a person's mental, physical and spiritual condition. There still is the question of what type of demon(s) are in the person who is demonized. Are they deception demons? Are they addiction demons? Or are they spirits of murder, suicide and destruction? It is important to know what demon(s) are in them so you know what you are really dealing with and how to proceed forward. One must always work in the spirit so you have discernment of spirits to protect you in case there is an assassin in the nest of demons that can turn physically violent during deliverance! This is where the Holy Spirit needs to be in control at all times in deliverance and your daily walk to give you discerning of spirits to keep you safe from demonic ambushes.

I know this first hand with someone being demonized close to possession trying to take my life more than once. Ending my life was like extreme hunger to the demonized and they were willing at any cost to fill their demonic stomach of my blood and tissue resulting in me almost losing my left index finger from being bitten off! So total demonization or possession is real and will accelerate over the next years because of sin running ramped without any repentance. If it is a beloved family member who is bound by a demon(s), only the Blood of Jesus Christ will set them free. Hence, the purpose of the "Spirit Realm" series books to pick up where the churches left off that dropped the deliverance ball.

More information can be found at www.scotthensler.org to help you and your loved ones find deliverance from evil. Note any other means of trying to cast out demons without Jesus Christ is dangerous and should be avoided at all cost!

The teachings in this book “BPD or Jezebel” and all the “Spirit Realm” series books will reference demonization and not possession unless otherwise noted. Most accounts are demonization and not possession in real life with demonic encounters at this point in time. However, as noted this will all change and the world will experience God’s wrath as described in the book of Revelation and complete possession will become a common place. Demonization can give the appearance of possession at the time of manifestation (acting out the spirit(s) nature of the demon in a person) and Hollywood has taken full advantage of this phenomenon for theatric presentation purposes. So most people including Christians automatically think of possession not knowing there is a difference because of incorrect teachings and presentations. When a evil spirit is physically acting out their ugly nature through an individual who is infected with a demon. At that moment in time they are unable to control themselves and are seen as being possessed when they are really demonized. Evil spirits, unclean spirits, demons or devils are the same demonic entity just called by different names and are under the control of Satan. The main point of understanding this phenomenon is that possession is defining ownership and demonization means having an unclean spirit for a time and that is how I reference the two definitions in all of my writings.

Another example of demonization is it’s like having a sickness caused by germs or a virus that can be overcome. However, when the sickness occurs one has no control over their body with aches and pains, or how they emotionally feel because of illness influencing symptoms. So if one is possessed that means the devil or his demons own the individual and could be compared to being terminally ill, not just sick for a time. Note that with any fatal illness there are acts of God through grace that heal and deliver the dying from death seen as miracles. So there is hope even for the possessed to be delivered from evil if they are willing to repent. If you are a Christian and have received Jesus Christ as your Lord and Savior you are now owned by God and cannot be owned by the devil so possession cannot occur, only demonization because of sin or generational curses. Deliverance is needed to remove any demon(s) once and for all out of the Christian so their walk with God is not hindered through sickness or sinful bad behavior. Deliverance will also lead you to renouncing and the breaking of any curses that could be self-induced or generational. The results can be physical, emotional and spiritual healing of the Christian and their complete walk with God is restored as God originally intended. This can also occur with non-Christians in hopes of them receiving Jesus Christ by experiencing the power of God. Enabling them to feel and know that they have worth for the first time in their life instead of condemnation, and also experience the freedom from destruction of their lives that comes from demons.

So in reality those who are secular and are not in Christ Jesus are possibly possessed or have some ownership by Satan for a time, but not necessarily demonized at any given time. Most likely because of not being in Christ Jesus secular people are probably demonized because of their sinful nature with no Holy Spirit protection and operate in deception which pushes them away from God. Possession is recognized by acts of uncontrolled manifestations that occur during demonization outburst. So ownership is displayed through total manifestations of the unsaved causing acts of destruction to themselves and others. Rape, murder and other abominations can be the product of possession. This means the demon(s) take over the mind, body and soul of the possessed and cause them to act out the ugly nature of the unclean spirit(s) that is inside the person for that time making them become evil. If it is a spirit of murder that is in control of the possessed then the outcome is murder! After their terrible committed acts most who are possessed do not remember doing it and continue on afterward as if nothing happened till the devil comes calling again to use the possessed to destroy another human being. Or even causing the possessed to take their own life. You will frequently see this in shooters who kill indiscriminately in crowds of people. Even shooting children in schools and then do not remember what happened. Possession has no good outcome and only serves Satan. This is why they are so dangerous because they have no concept or recollection of the event afterward, meaning total possession with mind control. Even more terrible are those who know what they are doing and think they are doing the world a favor and see themselves as chosen and commissioned to take the life of others! No one gets away with sin and there will be a day of judgment for all who are not in Christ Jesus. Yes, there is greater punishment for those who willfully commit crimes against the innocent such as children!

Another source of confusion occurs concerning possession versus Christians having unclean spirits is by what has been wrongly taught in the Christian Church through the introduction of man's doctrine and not what Jesus accomplished for us on the cross. Implementing the Great Commission of Jesus Christ by churches to remove these unclean spirits out of both Christians and non-Christian is almost nonexistent because of man's intervention and wilful disobedience. The power of God has dominion over evil spirits through the Blood of Jesus Christ and we are to continue going about our Fathers business just as Jesus did. Thank you Jesus! Unfortunately few churches understand this and so demonization continues among the Christian brotherhood unchallenged for the most part except for a few Saints who know the truth and through deliverance carry the weight of the Christian masses on themselves. No opposition means total demonic control. No wonder this world is so evil since the church will not even deliver themselves!

Again, we are not possessed but demonized by an unclean spirit if we have open sin that gives the demons legal right to us in our bodies and minds. Sin puts us back under the law and allows demons to oppress, infect and terrorized us through sickness, mental illness and uncontrollable behaviors also seen as curses. It means we have a demon(s) and are under the power or influence of a demon(s) because of sin regardless if we are Christians or not. If we confess, renounce and ask forgiveness of our sins we can take back the legal right given to the demon(s) because of or sin thus delivering us from evil as the Lord payer says. The Cross of Jesus Christ gives us this authority to do so to remove the legal right with the remission of sins. Without it we do not have any power over the devil to stand against him. Some sins allow more legal right for the demons than others. Curses are the same way with demons being behind the curse carrying out the effects of the curse. Sins of the body and divination such as witchcraft are among the greatest sins, giving greater legal right to demons to infect and torment all who sin including Christians.

We are three-part (tri-part) beings having a body (soma), mind/soul (psyche), and spirit (neuma). So our bodies and minds can be infected or demonized. However, our spirit belongs to God if we are in Christ Jesus. If we are not then all three-parts of us can be influenced and controlled by demons under ownership. So our souls become evil or possessed with evil acts that God finds detestable. In time if we do not repent we can be turned over to a reprobate mind and not return from complete possession. If we blaspheme the Holy Spirit we will also never return and face internal damnation in the lake of fire after the final judgment. Demons will try and convince sinners they have blasphemed the Holy Spirit when they have not. I find this with those who hear voices in their heads (schizophrenia) which are really demons taking over their mind and telling the person they are not redeemable. This causes a loss of hope of redemption in the minds of sinners if they buy into the lie, thus they give up and some even forfeit their gift of life through suicide thinking all is lost. Blaspheming the Holy Spirit is a wilful choice and a permanent act of rebelling, not sin that is forgivable. So regardless of your situation God has made a way out through his Son, but you need to fight back using the Blood of Jesus Christ to take back what the devil has stolen from you! If you have truly blasphemed the Holy Spirit you would most likely not be reading this book or able to make sense of it to point you back to redemption through repentance.

So do not confuse possession and demonization as being the same even though some translations may use either. They are only words thrown around by those with no real understanding of the true nature of demons and the sin that gives them the legal right to infect and control an individual. I believe for a time if repentance is sought even by those who are possessed can be redeemed. However, once the door is closed and you have not repented after God has given you a way out death both physically and spiritually await you. While you still can repent and ask forgiveness for your sins and receive the Lord Jesus Christ into your heart. Thus receiving eternal salvation and giving you the power and authority to no longer be possessed and even be cleansed of demonization. It is that simple. Religion has made this free gift to be more complicated than it is through man's doctrine. Jesus plus nothing will set you free!

I know some will argue that even Satan does not own us only God does and possession is only a symptom of sin or does not really exist. However, I see scripture telling us we belong of one or the other Kingdom with no middle ground. Anyone who has been in the deliverance ministry for a time has seen possession not just demonization take place controlling an individual to do things they would not normally do including murder. Again, I use possession as a term defining that someone has wilfully given themselves over completely and is owned by Satan at that point in time. In the last days Satan will unleash his army of possessed individuals who will only listen to him and not God or fellow humans. This is by choice and they have sworn allegiance to Satan. So Satan owns them and they are demon possessed and will do all they can to destroy God's people who are owned by God. If you have ever looked into the eyes of a demon possessed individual you will only see death and not life.

If you are an enemy of God than you are not of his kingdom and have no place with him. Again, there is no middle ground and only through grace for a time keeps you from eternal death if you are becoming possessed and not yet completely taken over. You cannot have it both ways or live in the gray area I call the demilitarized zone (DMZ.) The DMZ is no place for anyone especially Christians! God will extend his grace to cover your sins while you are being pulled one way or another thus protecting you from complete possession for a time while you figure it out that sin means death and turn back to God. However, the clock eventually runs out and the door closes even on those who think they are good people and do not need to receive Jesus Christ the Son of God as their Lord and Savior. Even man's law upholds ownership of the one in possession of an item in question as being nine-tenths of the law. I rest my case concerning ownership and the difference between possession versus demonization! This is why the battle of good and evil is in the minds and hearts of people that through deception demons can take a lost soul to the fire pit with them in the end. You have a choice where you will spend eternity. I pray you make it to safety before being turned over to a reprobate mind and wilfully through deception forfeit the gift of eternal life!

As you read the chapters in this book "BPD or Jezebel" and others in my "Spirit Realm" series, just remember the difference between possession and demonization. This will help you understand the complexity of Satan's plan through man to destroy all who dwell on this earth. Also remember God is in control and through his Son Jesus Christ we are without condemnation and have been given all power and authority over the devil and his demons.

So have no fear and hold your head up high knowing you are a child of the Most High God, and know that you will enter His Kingdom for eternity.

Praise be to God!

Please note: Any ministry that does not set their congregation free through the Blood of the Lamb's Great Commission known as deliverance is denying God's power and in part is assisting Satan in keeping God's people captive. We are called in the Great Commission of Jesus Christ to set the captives free as prophesied in Isaiah! That is you, me and anyone else who is being demonically tormented with destructive spirits whose soul goal is to destroy God's people. If you are sick and wounded how can you serve God to your fullest...

Does your church have a deliverance ministry?

Chapter 1 -What is BPD?

It appears that the medical profession, including, the psychologists, have a one track mind when it comes to diagnosing a patient which never brings into the prognosis that there could be entities from the unknown that may be the main driving force behind some of the physical and emotional abnormalities they consider as a textbook psychosis. So let's look at the physiologist view and their understanding before I show the spiritual effects on a Borderline Personality Disorder (BPD) and those who are in relationship with them. As you read the following, remember demonic spirits can consume a man, woman or child, whether Christians or non-Christian, but not necessarily possess them. I will discuss this difference of possession and being oppressed or infected with spirits later. The inducing of particular spirits and the unique arrangements of spirits makes BPD one of the most unique and destructive disorders to have ever been released on God's people by hell itself. However, spirits are not considered to be a classification of interest or even accepted as a reality in the scientific, medical or therapeutic world. The DSM IV-TR (V62.89) (ICD-10) (F44.3) does discuss Possession Trance Disorder as one of the classifications or explanation for the behaviors known as Dissociative Identity Disorder or DID. This is also called Multiple Personality Disorder, or sometimes known as someone having an Alter Personality. See references: (1)

DSM IV-TR description of Possession Trance listed with DID:

(2) Possession Trance, i.e., a single or episodic alteration in the state of consciousness characterized by the replacement of customary sense of personal identity by a new identity. This is attributed to the influence of a spirit, power, deity, or other person, as evidenced by one, (or more) of the following: Stereotyped and culturally determined behaviors or movements that are experienced as being controlled by the possessing agent in full or partial amnesia for the event.

Since the possibility of spiritual influences is suggested by the DSM IV-TR as a possible cause for DID, then why is it such a hot potato and why are so few professionals willing to diagnose this in their prognosis of patients including so called Christian psychologists, who have infiltrated the churches today? Schizophrenia has also been said to be a higher classification of DID. If you experience schizophrenia with a DID or a BPD patient in a controlling circumstance, you'll see why. The spirits are almost in complete control of the DID or the BPD at times and it is obvious from my experience that this is taking place. Why somebody who has experience and education in physiology cannot see this is mind-boggling. Some spiritually infected patients never return from spiritual control, making it almost impossible to deliver them from their infliction because one cannot communicate or appeal to their intellect or spirit man anymore. Their right of entry for the particular sin the individual or ancestors committed seems locked away forever in the displaced mind of the infected, thus renouncing the sins can never be completely accomplished. One may say they are turned over to a debased mind and the victims of the demonic infected never have the ability to be released from the stronghold.

This is tragic and frustrating for both the deliverance minister and family who never see this afflicted child of God returned to whom God intended them to be. I will say this: I have seen victory from some heavily infected men and women you would never think could return back to life again in their spirit and body. The difference I see is that somehow they are still willing to fight back and stay in God's Word. Notice, I said God's Word! Reading the Word and holding on to it seems to be the difference for success and failure. It's like running an anti-virus program and removing the bad computer code, thus allowing the program in the mind to start functioning again, even clearer and faster than before without error and interruption. This includes an abundance of joy in the heart and a renewal of love for God and his Son, Jesus Christ. Also note, I said, fight... some never do and dry up in their spirit and wither away to nothingness and pass away prematurely.

Some forms of Dementia or Alzheimer's are diagnosed as to the cause of this affliction, but it is as if the spirits have changed places with the victim and has the real person hidden away somewhere else. Again, this is one of the hardest situations to deal with and not take as a personal failure when you are so successful with others in deliverance and setting people free. Seeing this particular individual slip away into their obedience to the spirit while you try so vigorously to release them from certain death, makes you wonder how this could happen. Medications can mimic this same circumstance, so one must take into account the possibility they are in a trance's state from drugs and not controlled by spirits. Medication seems to slow down the spiritual effect, but not curing it. Long-term usage seems to strengthen the spirit's hold if the medications are abused. Pharmacia and sorcery come to mind when drugs are handed out like candy to children, and not administered with the real purpose to stabilize the otherwise unmanageable person so you can work with them without physical restraint. Even after the drugs have been terminated the comatose behaviors can continue as if they are still being drugged, or the spirits are now in control again. Many I have worked with over the years have in the past gone in for surgery, or some kind of medical emergency and never left the hospital the same as they were before the medication or anesthesia. This is common and needs to be recognized as the point of entry if there is spiritual affliction now taking place when there was none before. Out of body experiences are repeatedly reported when patients are under the influences of cretin medication and they still experience this phenomena even years after the incident that put them in the hospital earlier, that required drugs. So once again the psychiatric community reference the situation to a textbook cause and effect as per the DSM IV-TR used worldwide for diagnosis and not seeing it for what it is, a spiral attack of both mind and body.

So what is the DSM IV-TR and what does it have to say about Borderline Personality Disorder? The DSM IV-TR, is a widely used manual for diagnosing mental disorders in detail with classification and subclasses with criteria. The DSM IV-TR defines Borderline Personality Disorder with the criteria listed below: See references: (1)

- A pervasive pattern of instability of interpersonal relationships, self-image and effects, as well as marked impulsivity, beginning by early adulthood and present in a variety of contexts, as indicated by five (or more) of the following:

Frantic efforts to avoid real or imagined abandonment. Note: Do not include suicidal or self-injuring behavior covered in Criterion 5.

1. A pattern of unstable and intense interpersonal relationships characterized by alternating between extremes of idealization and devaluation.
2. Identity disturbance: markedly and persistently unstable self-image or sense of self.
3. Impulsive in at least two areas that are potentially self-damaging (e.g., promiscuous sex, eating disorders, binge eating, substance abuse, reckless driving). Note: Do not include suicidal or self-injuring behavior covered in Criterion 5.
4. Recurrent suicidal behavior, gestures, threats or self-injuring behavior such as cutting, interfering with the healing of scars (excoriation) or picking at oneself.
5. Affective instability due to a marked reactivity of mood (e.g., intense episodic dysphoria, irritability or anxiety usually lasting a few hours and only rarely more than a few days).
6. Chronic feelings of emptiness.
7. Inappropriate anger or difficulty controlling anger (e.g., frequent displays of temper, constant anger, recurrent physical fights).
8. Transient, stress-related paranoid ideation, delusions or severe dissociative symptoms

It is a requirement of DSM-IV that a diagnosis of any specific personality disorder also satisfies a set of general personality disorder criteria.

The criteria for BPD, apparently is still being debated if it really is a defined disorder, or just a catchall diagnosis definition for some psychologists. The term BPD was coined decades ago and left for dead but was resurrected in the 1980's, as an attempt to explain the rising behavior of those infected with this sometimes life crippling dysfunctional and abnormal personality. Those who have been in relationship with someone having BPD knows it is real which affects one's soul to such a depth that it forces them into a survival mode of self-preservation, just to get through each day. Being in a relationship with a BPD affects the non-BPD in ways they do not even realize at the time. This includes a spiritual transference through relational abuse.

The first description of BPD was to categorize the behaviors of patients that were on the border of neurosis and psychosis separately, or at the same time (hence, the term borderline). Either way the term has stuck and is well known today to describe the prognosis of someone who fits the BPD criteria in all or in part. When one looks at the criteria for BPD, you can see yourself and others in your life, in one way or another, relating to BPD. However, displaying several or all traits over time is what classifies one as having BPD. Recovery from this disorder is extremely low. What is recovery in the professional's opinion? Being on medication for the rest of their lives and trying to learn how to deal with their out of control inner and outer turmoil behavior? Giving them psychiatric treatments instead releasing them through deliverance from tormenting spirits forever? I only see this man's philosophy as keeping the BPD from a normal God fulfilling life. I have heard the term several times in the past when referring to BPD as a "cash cow" when speaking of psychiatric treatment that is never ending. Some insurance companies may drop a BPD when finally diagnosed because of out of control treatment expenses to the insurance companies. Even families will give up and walk away, or be devastated financially and distance themselves in time. You'll see BPDs on the street and homeless since most spouses or family members are not equipped to deal with their exhausting behaviors. A woman BPD will find men who are willing to cling to them because of the sexual nature. Men BPDs usually find themselves in jail or clinging to a dysfunctional woman. They have lost who they are and are extremely co-dependent. This is the nature of this disorder where there are no set rules. All mentioned can be reversed in their gender. The devil and what he does has no rules and will do whatever it takes to destroy all involved, including children. Note the high-rise of childhood suicide!

So it has been my experience that the labeling of someone diagnosed by a psychiatrist or counselor as having BPD was not applied when they repeatedly displayed all the criteria. I believe, for these very reasons, it is to keep the BPD in the system of treatments resulting in great financial gain to those administering the treatments. Now that I am more educated on this subject, I can plainly see that there was never a question that I was dealing with a full-blown BPD in my past. Several diagnosed the individual of having this disorder and either showed extreme ignorance or alternatively, for other reasons, I believe, showed a complete lack of humility and compassion for all involved possibly for financial gain.

Now, keep in mind that not all psychiatric facilities are even capable of treating this disorder much less the churches that have no deliverance ministry. Most counselors will not work with BPD patients or at least more than one at a time since it is so exhausting both physically and emotionally to work with them. Remember, this is a spiritual infection, and the demons are only there to run the BPD like a puppet, running everyone ragged. Demons don't sleep or have any honor or compassion. Their assignment from the top (Satan) is to steal, kill and destroy!

The different criteria that is explained for BPD will exchange back and forth at rates you would think only a computer could handle at that amount of mental data to process.

So, for the average individual, you are working at a great disadvantage since they generally have a high intelligence that is also working in conjunction with demonic spirits of all types. Making them the perfect clairvoyant, manipulating machine and will always be one step ahead of you. That is, if they have progressed to that point in their disorder or are sold out to the influence of the spirits. Keep in mind my suggestion of being sold out. You'll see where this seems to be one of the main strongholds to keep the BPD where they are in their disorder and not able to move forward in their deliverance and healing process.

Not all have come to this extreme stage, and some are referred to as low-functioning BPDs and struggle just to get through each day. I will be discussing the high-functioning BPD that will change the lives of all who cross their path. Yes, there is a middle ground with the BPD and some will operate as I will be describing. They generally cannot sustain full throttle for any extended period of time. They will have a complete breakdown. So you may encounter all three while in the deliverance ministry that have not even been diagnosed as of yet. It does not matter what type of BPD you are dealing with. What matters is getting the demons out, healing their soul-wounds and restoring their minds, to give them a fulfilling life in Jesus Christ, to be the man or woman of God that God had intended them to be before being infected with evil spirits. "With God, all things are possible". So as long as you or the BPD in your life is still alive, it's not too late to be delivered. Full surrender to the Holy Spirit is necessary and will forever change your life for the good. The promises of God will bless you and all around you. There's life in the blood of Jesus Christ waiting for you. Not the death that Satan has in store for you. You're in a fight whether you like it or not. The choice is yours.

Chapter 2 - The BPD Spiritual Connection

There are many good, secular books available to educate the non-BPD and help the family members cope and deal with their loved ones that have this disorder. One of the best BPD books out there is called Stop Walking on Eggshell, by Paul T. Mason, MS and Randi Kreger. However, few books I have found explain or try to deal with the spiritual issue of the demonic infection from familiar spirits, unclean spirits and the heaviness of witchcraft that regularly goes with this affliction. Unfortunately, I found little out there in the past that gave spiritual alternatives, instead psychological methods for treatment. However, the Internet is now alive with information concerning this issue and filled with personal stories of those in relation with BPDs and the heartbreaking testimonies of the BPDs themselves crying out for help. I had one Christian psychologist say to me that in the twenty-plus years of dealing with BPD patients, they never saw one that did not have the spirit of witchcraft combined with the spirit of narcissism. In fact, narcissism was the closest thing to evil they had ever dealt with in their practice. Another psychologist specializing in BPD was quoted as saying they wish they could gather up all the BPDs and place them on an island away from non-BPDs, because of the destruction the BPDs have caused over the years to others. This is why earlier I used the term infected. This condition is directly associated with being infected by these spirits and the psychological damaging effects the demons cast onto their victims with mental emotional torment over time, and those that are in a relationship with a BPD. The BPD is not evil. They have evil spirits of a certain type and order that give the BPD their distinct behavior. They are victimized by demons but rarely take responsibility for their own actions regardless. We all are given a freewill and sooner or later need to decide which way we are going to go. However, a BPD generally chooses to blame everyone else for the feelings of the tumbling emotions inside of them that are spiritually induced. This is another strategic placement of demons that keep them from seeking help and may be the spirit of pride that is one of the main spirits leading them down the path of hopelessness and destruction. You remember how well that worked for Satan!

So it would seem that the BPD sells out and ends up using the demonic to gain a false sense of strength and supernatural abilities to cope and survive each day. I call this demonic, good cop-bad cop syndrome. The BPD knows there is someone else in there with them, but it has over time, become who they are, and can no longer distinguished the difference. Being manipulated and tormented to do the will of the demons, the BPD has no idea they're just a pond in a game with no winners. If you think a BPD can just change, you are terribly wrong. When a BPD tries to seek help from the suffering the demons step up the attack and the BPD caves in. This is emotional torment that most will never experience; perhaps this is what one would encounter when entering the gates of hell. So in no-way am I blaming the BPD. I myself have experienced spiritual attacks that have been released by BPD acting out in the Jezebel spirit and can see why Elijah in Kings, 20:20, was under a tree wishing to die.

To be tormented to this level would drive anyone to keep the peace at any cost, even if it means joining the enemy in the name of survival, because it is like not being able to breathe. A tormented individual will do so only so it can breathe again, at least for a short time. Have you not done something out of fear and regretted it later? In time, it becomes obvious the demons are not their friend, but cannot reverse the legal right by themselves. So having compassion for the BPD is a must, and they need godly spiritual help as soon as possible to renounce the rights of the demons whom the BPD has given them over the years. They are victims making victims, and like a cannon ball on its deadly path will continue till they no longer have any more inertia to mull down their victims, meaning death.

I need to point out that the original demonic entry or right to torment the BPD in most cases came from the direct result of abuse in the form of verbal and or physical attacks by authority figures, which almost always include sexual violations at early ages. Such as coming from parents, relatives or even generational past sins that brought curses into the bloodline. These curses or spirits include rejection, abandonment, word curses, molestation and even cultist practices by the parents or other family members. Some infections have possibly come from babysitters who have had complete and daily access to the child without interruption and caused open doors of spiritual negativity through abuse. The parents probably never knew this was taking place at all while they were away, since children have no way of properly defending themselves as seen time and time again in these cases. Children can be intimidated by their perpetrator into thinking they, the child, that it is their fault, or that they would be in trouble if someone found out what was going on. This is one of the first stages of deception implanted in the child's mind to take root and alter their perspective of right and wrong and even self-worth. BPDs have been said to be a hard wiring of the mind, and not so much a brain chemical dysfunction. And because of these assaults, meaning sins against the child, the child is now infected with evil spirits. The devil takes advantage of any opportunity to infect. Furthermore, now the spirits are setting up house and over time will destroy the BPDs life and all who enter the relationship with them as teenagers and adults. The demons also get to work right away putting into place demonic strongholds and transference to the BPD spouse and or family members through abuse from the BPD themselves. The spouse and or family members will be tragically affected with turbulent mind-boggling behaviors and unexplained illness. The non-BPD may now start displaying BPD like traits themselves that are the same spirits transferred onto them from abuse from the BPD. Again, the cannon ball saga. I know some argue that generational sins stop at the fourth or fifth generation. However, when these spirits and strongholds get into the bloodline, it will continue till there is a divine interference from a Holy Ghost filled Saint of God.

The non-BPD find themselves having to deal with spiritual strongholds called soul ties that could affect them in tormenting ways that cause in themselves forms of personality disorders and psychosis, possibly for the rest of their lives, including the children of BPDs and their future generations. These soul ties can make it almost impossible to break away from the BPD permanently. They find in time there is an iniquitous pull that brings them back into the relationship with the BPD over and over again no matter how hard they try to be released. Usually what happens in time is that the BPD sees you as all bad because of the abandonment or perceived abandonment through your own self-preservation; and eventually with a primitive strike, by removing themselves since you are now seen with no good in you anymore. They will jungle-Jim (grabbing one bar before releasing the other bar) over to another relationship and securing that relationship before they break away from you since they are not able to be by themselves for any extended periods of time. Once they have captured the new relationship with their draw of sexuality and charm, they will drop you like a hammer as if you are an evil person that needs to be removed from society. You then collapse with emotional distress with wounds and hurt deeper than you have ever experienced before because the transferred demons are striking with a flurry of depression, anxiety and sorrow to destroy you, leaving you with guilt and shame for demons that have made you think it is your fault, and you failed. The BPD moves on with no thought of just destroying you, only to repeat the same behavior of turmoil again and again in the next relationships.

That's what makes this condition called BPD so destructive, costing millions of dollars in loss and medical treatments each year. This breaks up family homes and sending non-BPD to question their own sanity. Now the non-BPD is so traumatized they too start acting out like BPDs and even seek medical treatment for this condition when, in fact, they have been infected by the same demons by transference and need deliverance. They are probably suffering from post-traumatic stress syndrome as well thus taking years or never really ever recovering even when they are no longer in relationship with the BPD, possibly even decades later. This is a life-changing experience that should have never happened in the first place. Most non-BPDs now say they are a different person from what they once were after being traumatized through a relationship with a BPD. In chapter eight I will address this in more detail with their abilities to use the spirit realm, or should I say the spirit realm use them in most destructive ways.

Few ever escape the binged and vicious struggle that takes place for the non-BPD, to regain themselves without deliverance from the Holy Spirit to heal their soul and mind. If you are infected, or think you are infected from transference of evil spirits, seek help immediately from a local church that has a Healing and Deliverance Ministry. If you are in a sexual relationship with a BPD or anybody else outside a marriage, stop, repent and seek help. Once these spirits have set up camp because of your willful disobedience you will in time be fighting for your life. You may not be able to break away unless someone intercedes for you and pulls you from the death of Satan.

We all forget, over time, most traumatic incidences, but a scar can be formed that never really heals without the Blood of Jesus Christ. No one wants to carry this disabling emotional scar with them for the rest of their life. Possibly bringing the scars into a new relationship that could end up being terminated because you really were not ready to trust someone with your heart that is still bruised! So do not jungle-Jim over to another possible BPD or emotional demonic infected mate. Seek the Lord in guidance and eliminate the influences in your life that may have brought you to the BPD in the first place. What I have seen is once you have been introduced to this demonic dance, they will never stop re-introducing you to a new infected possible future mate. Maybe you have a great calling on your life, and this is why you are targeted and seem to always be under attack. A BPD or some other disordered individual may suck you back into the gates of hell so as not to fulfill your God given destiny. The BPD does not know they are being used for this purpose. However, once you have experienced this; this should be like, for example, when you were a kid and were caught smoking cigarettes and your parents made you sit down and smoke the whole pack at once. An experience you'll never forget and how sick it made you feel. From that point on you never touch another cigarette again! Unfortunately, there is always someone who does not heed the warning and falls victim again to this demonic snare that is really a bear trap that each time steals a part of you that you may never recover.

God, Jesus Christ, and the presence of the Holy Spirit should be your first love. Through them, a demonic counterfeit mate cannot gain access to your heart and destroy you. It is through your heart where we can be steered into the path of an oncoming train being engineered by Satan and his demons. So guard your hearts and put on the full armor of God when making life-changing decisions. If only BPD and non-BPDs could have had this wisdom implanted into their minds before Satan speared them with the first entry point that now has an iniquitous pull throughout their lives and fulfill what God really had for them instead of a life full of pain and misery.

I touch on the subject of possession verses oppressed or infected with evil spirits in the last chapter. At times when dealing with a BPD, you would think there is total possession taking place. If you are a true born again child of God, and you have the Holy Spirit in you through the acceptance of Jesus Christ, then the evil spirits cannot be in your spirit man, just in your body, mind or surroundings. So this is not possession, but infection. If you are not in Christ, and are a willful sinner and have no repentance in your heart or the desire to know God, then you're a good candidate for total possession and you or other individuals will play a part in the end times since they can, and will be totally controlled by Satan and his demons. When you truly see possession, you can see how this is totally possible for the non-believer to carry out destruction while under the influence of evil spirits. So is a BPD possessed? One does not know the hearts of others. I will assume we are dealing with a BPD that has at one time come to the understanding of whom God is and has taken Jesus Christ in their hearts and since they have not been delivered, they carry their demons with them in their walk with God and now have an even greater war going on inside of them that is devastating. They need intervention in order to regain control of their body and mind. That's what Jesus Christ did for us on the cross. It gave us the power and authority to release the BPD and non-BPD that are tormented. The asylums are full of people that are not mentally ill, only tormented by evil spirits and because Satan has put into place humanism combined with intellectualism. The very people put in command of these tormented souls are acutely the ones keeping them in bondage with their spiritual ignorance, never allowing the patients that are infected with evil spirits to be set free through the blood of Jesus Christ. Now that is evil at its finest hour as I see it. Keeping one from the blood of Jesus Christ has got to have eternal damnation in their future. If you are a physiologist reading this statement, repent and join the Kingdom of God and help set the captives free!

It is never too late when it comes to one's eternal soul as long as one is still alive. God can and will restore his Saints. If there is no one to do the will of the Father to set the captive free through the blood of Jesus Christ, then those in the present and future will not be delivered and will suffer and die with evil spirits tormenting them, and forever, changing the lives of their loved ones. This is tragic and is an abomination to allow this to happen. God loves us and through Jesus Christ, all things are possible!

Chapter 3 - BPD in a Christian Family

Now, there does appear statistically that some BPDs can come from families that have been wonderful loving Christian parents who correctly protected and nurtured the child, and the child or young adult still ended up with this disorder. Then, one must look at the family's bloodline and go back a generation or two to find where the demonic came from. Maybe Grandma or Uncle Joe had serious issues that were swept under the rug, and no one would talk about it. Maybe, there was witchcraft in the family dating back to the old country where your ancestor came from, and it finally reared its ugly head and it's now payback time to the devil for the generational sins committed.

When interviewing a BPD, or their families, there usually is something revealed. Usually at the time members of the family thought nothing of it. Alternatively, they were so spiritually ignorant and never thought twice that Aunt Maggie really did curse the family in her ceremonies using a pentagram or idols thinking she was just crazy, nothing would ever come of it and eventually forgetting about it years later. However, now hell has come home to roost, and someone is going to pay. Remember, you never get away with anything when it comes to the devil and his demons if you fall in his snare or willfully sin.

It may seem to those who are not in the Ministry of Healing and Deliverance that this example is way out there and could not possibly happen. However, for us who see this every day, it is just another day in the office and happens much more frequently than most could ever imagine. When you look at your bloodline and only go back three generations, including yourself, you have fifteen people involved on both sides of the family. This could easily involve Witchcraft, Catholicism, Freemasonry, Mormonism, Drugs, Murder, Prostitution, Abortion and Occult practices and maybe even involving rituals paying homage to the devil and his demons. You would be surprised what I hear day in and day out from families you would never think had this in their bloodline now cursing some or all. Once this curse takes hold it continually perpetuates through with new sins committed by the next generation. Remember, once the bloodline is infected it will continue for generations until someone cancels and removes the curse through the blood of Jesus Christ, and they walk in a godly manner giving no entry of new sin. The third generation seems to be a minimal that Deuteronomy teaches about continual curses from past sins committed by ancestors. Once the sin is in the bloodline, it seems to have an iniquitous pull on the rest of the family, thus continuing the curse through new sins committed by the later generations. Remember, the devil does not play well with others, and he is not your friend. It makes me think he may have been the first BPD and infects those willing to accept these traits through sin. He certainly was the first narcissist who seems to crossover with BPD.

Now, on another note, I have seen some non-BPD that were terribly abused as children and as young adults and never displayed any of the BPD symptoms. They carried on with their lives only dealing with the usual stresses in a relationship and so on. They never held any hostility with their perpetrators or never inflicted the same treatment on their children and spouses. However, there was still a demonic influence that was the result of their abuse. It is good that the removal of these spirits, were dealt with quickly and smoothly during their deliverance because they forgave or never let a spirit of bitterness take hold. Unlike most BPDs that have extreme trouble letting go and forgiving, they are continually haunted everyday with their past and would rather see their perpetrators destroyed in most violent ways. This anger, rage and the frustration of injustice are carried into relationships for years on end. The BPD will project onto their friends, relatives or spouse every emotion possible, as if they were the ones who committed the atrocities years earlier against the BPD. And of course, the devil is in the details and orchestrates it perfectly like the mechanical movements in a fine watch.

So what is the difference or circumstance that evolves a person to be overtaken with BPD? In my opinion, it is a choice somewhere in their conflict to allow the demonic spirits to falsely make them think they will be protected by them. It was a lie and dirty trick, but the BPD took the bait. Now, the potential BPD does not really know what they are dealing with, and I believe if they did they would choose otherwise. At least in theory one would hope. So on with the deception from Satan and another child of God splits or tears-away and accepts the spirits either through fear or self-preservation. I can only say that this is a theory. I may be completely wrong but there are still other factors involved. However, in support of this theory one must remember that a BPD usually does not seek help and when they do they then turn right-around and deny their prognosis as if they are hiding something deep inside. Alternatively, protecting something that even they don't know what it is. I have seen when you uncover them and get closer to who they are, the more violent they can become and will run away if you corner them. They will protect who they are or what they are inside like a junkyard dog would protect the fenced proper they are secured in. If you have ever seen this firsthand, you'll see there is a spiritual overwhelming that takes place that is so confusing to non-BPD that they start denying even themselves with what is truth. The BPD will turn and point back at the non-BPD that they are the ones who have the problem and then the phenomena of "keeping the peace at any cost" by the non-BPD sets in. Once the non-BPD sees that they have opened Pandora's Box, they start back peddling because of spiritual induced fear. We know back peddling never works anyway once you've triggered a BPD. It stirs up the spirit's nest that now have to go into full lock down and man all guns because you're getting to close! The spirits and the BPD will go through a complete psychotic cycle if you continue with pressing into what the real problem is. One scenario I remember was being struck by a BPD repeatedly, and the BPD saying... stop hitting me... stop hitting me! Almost like something from an old Abbott and Costello's movie, but nothing funny about it. Their psychotic episode was if they were back in time experiencing the first point of entry of abuse and now projecting onto the non-BPD. This is extremely confusing and damaging to loved ones that are only trying to help and extremely taxing for family members who have no idea what they are really dealing with.

The devil is the ultimate spin doctor whose position is so well-known in the political realm for making things altered in their appearance. If you withdraw, the BPD will recover just as fast as they were triggered into hysteria, and now all is fine again in the snap of a finger, especially now that the spirits have successfully altered yourself worth, and you now deny your own sanity. Just minutes or hours ago you thought, the BPD was possibly going to take their life and maybe yours during the outburst. It was all going to come to an end, and the BPD was going to finely hit bottom and get some much-needed help. However, now the cards have changed, and the pendulum is once again swaying back to safe mode. However, in time the pendulum will violently swing back to disasters as sure as the sun will rise tomorrow. In the meantime the spirits are preparing for the next assault. Leaving you with an open door to the BPDs spirits of trauma that now have a wedge in it to keep it open because you now have a demonic soul-tie with the BPD. Maybe you confused Christianity with thinking it was your responsibility to help the BPD on your own. Innocently you do not know you're over your head and now are being set up to be destroyed unless there is divine intervention.

Narcissism being one of the BPDs tendencies is like Eugenics. You're seen as a lower form of life than the BPD because of the demonic influences and could be eliminated without another thought for the betterment or self-preservation of the infected BPD. One form of this demonic setup is you are being traumatized step-by-step, if not fully affected already. You will soon be displaying post-traumatic stress disorder symptoms, which is a playground for the demonic to torment you in. We were never built to take this kind of abuse, and are not skilled at recognizing it as it is happening to us. Neither are we able to completely remove ourselves to safety when the Ahab spirits move in and make us demonic enablers, like the co-dependency of an abused spouse. This shows the craftiness of the devil and how he has all the time in the world to set you up, to then take you down. If you seek help, you may want to do it in private without the BPD knowing it. Trying to get help for the problem somehow seems to make things even more terrible when the spirits are not removed from both parties. Again, one of the signs of BPD is they rarely seek help or admit to having that kind of a problem. So if you are in this situation, seek counsel from good godly Christians who have spiritual warfare experience, including deliverance. When you do seek help, the familiar spirits may communicate this to the BPD, and you may be in a challenge for the truth you never thought was possible. Yes, the spirits will communicate any attempts to rectify the situation. Your good intentions will be turned around, and again, you're the bad person for trying to harm them. This is the BPDs demonic perception of harming them when in reality, the truth will set them free and the demonic will do all they can to keep this from happening. So, do not blindly move forward, the watchers are watching and your every move is a threat to their Kingdom of Darkness.

I had a counselor once say that a BPD never really hits bottom. How low their bottoms are I do not know. However, it's kind of like when you were a kid and played with a Yo-Yo. As the Yo-Yo got closer to the ground, you readied your finger with the string tied to it and gave it a tug upward just before the Yo-Yo hit the floor... and snap! The Yo-Yo came right back up. I have repeatedly seen this happen with BPDs, thinking they finally reached the end of their rope and will now seek help only to become operational again in some cases within minutes and now it's everyone else that has the problem. So now the BPD says, "How dare you! You think I need help? It's you who needs it." And then the enabler spirit starts moving in and setting up in the non-BPD to become an Ahab over time. This does not happen overnight. There may be a day your old friends may say they do not even know who you are anymore because you are chained to a legion of demons and compromise the way of the Lord now, just to get through the day without incident. However, that does not work either, and you'll find yourself so removed from God's presence, you may even be thinking of taking your own life when once you had a strong constitution of who you were in Christ. Now, you are only a shell of the person you once were. This is how the devil works, and he is a master at it.

Once this demonic dance is performed a few more times between the BPD and the non-BPD, the non-BPD will lose all abilities to stand against the spirits that have removed all abilities to discern what is really going on. The non-BPD will miss their godly call on their life, unless there is a divine intervention and can break away from the strongholds. You would think that anyone can do this, but there is a spiritual demonic aspect that literally changes who you are one step at a time. Sort of like the boiling of a frog in the pot slowly theory, but this theory or concept is on demonic steroids! Without the blood of Jesus Christ, and a Holy Spirit intervention you may fall completely to the enemy. So with righteous anger for the crimes against God's children, fight for your life and stand in the truth and the light of God's word, and take back what the enemy has stolen from you and your BPD companion who needs the loving touch from God, so they too, do not fall completely pray to the devil.

How can the devil do all of this? Lies and more lies. These are lies, which corrupt the very nature of who God's people are and how God sees them. It's like this; if in time your self-worth has been diminished, you may one-step at a time let go and fall down into a stupor of depression and lose who you are and forfeit the ability to have righteous anger. This is the anger God put into all of us when we see an injustice against the less fortunate or weak. Those that cannot defend themselves are picked off one at a time. This is where the devil, and his demons want you. However, if you could see into the spirit world this age-old practice, you would be enraged at the harm and crimes against God's people. If you could see your own children being harmed by spiritual entities like wolverines in the flesh attacking them, you would come to their aid in a moment's notice. There is no difference as long as you walk blindly and do not carry a spiritual big stick. In this case, the Word of God, you will be victimized and your loved ones as well will be attacked from all sides. They will possibly fall in time, which was the assignment of the demons in the first place.

Once a demonic door has been willfully opened through sin and no repentance or attempt is made to go to the throne room of God through Jesus Christ you are giving a right to the devil and his demons to torment you. It may not come today or tomorrow.

However, it will come. Like the BPD, you may not know what is going on with you yourself, only to react in the flesh, which is exactly what the devil wants you to do instead of fighting back with the Holy Spirit at your side. This is where the BPD fails in their attempt to regain their life with lies of the enemy making them think through self-preservation, anger and manipulation of others, they will be safe. This is when all along it is nothing more than the devil's main chess piece moving to secure the BPDs or non-BPDs demise.

As you can see this so called Borderline Personality Disorder is not for amateurs to deal with. This is, in my opinion, one of the most powerful spiritual links that brings the physical world and the spirit world together by using witchcraft to destroy anyone who gets in the way of the devil. As once said, you cannot run into the devil when you're running in the same direction as him, and he will cut in front of you sooner or later and you will fall. When you run at the devil, you will be knocked down. So do not try and stand by yourself. God made provision through His Son Jesus Christ for us to have the tools necessary to fight and win against the devil. As long as you continue to allow BPD, and other disorders to run your life, you will fail. Surrender to Jesus Christ and live!

Chapter 4 - The Church and BPD

The most tragic thing about this disorder is that even though Jesus Christ paid for these sins and sickness and gave us the spiritual tools necessary to remove all afflictions, few do not know how to use the blood of Jesus Christ in spiritual warfare. Furthermore, if the church had fulfilled the great commission, these curses could have all been washed away by his blood before a child of God got infected and the lives of cherished Saints could be spared from all the pain and suffering from the past, present and future. How? You have to repent before the Lord Jesus Christ. Then, you would simply break the curses of the BPD and their bloodline and cast out the demons, thus setting the BPD free before the demon or demons could carry out their assignments. Notice, I referred to their task as assignments. Once higher dominion demons are in the bloodline, they move from one generation to the next and appear to have authority over less powerful demons. They assign tasks and duties to perform, all working together, setting you up to sin more and more thus, introducing, new spirits to work ultimately to finalize their attacks when you or the BPD is in their forties or fifties; if they have not succeeded in destroying you earlier in life. They, the demons, most likely have, at a minimum, made things extremely difficult up to this point for both the BPD and non-BPD.

However, not all is lost! The good news is that even though the curses (which are orchestrated by demons) have landed and are being carried out on a BPD or family member, the curses can still be broken, removed and the inflicted, restored and brought back into complete fellowship with the God of the Bible as he intended through Yahshua, our Savior and Redeemer, the Son of Yahweh. This includes those that are in relation with the BPD. All churches should have full time ministries to deliver those who are infected with evil spirits and restore the sick to full restoration in the name of Jesus Christ. However, most are not doing this except for a handful of churches, which are so few and far between to carry the load of the massively infected.

Most Christians never really fulfill their destiny that God had intended for them much less BPDs. This is a tragedy for all who are infected, such as your children and grandchildren. Especially, those children of BPDs are greatly affected by the demonic stronghold that encapsulates the entire family. So I am calling on the church to fulfill the Great Commission and start ministering to their congregation the gift of Healing and Deliverance that Jesus commanded them to do. So many need help, but are not receiving it from the churches.

If your church is not involved in this ministry, then find one that does and support it. Learn and be delivered yourself, and then start serving others now that you know and have received the gift of Healing and Deliverance. So many Christians are dying right in the pews in front of their pastors that needlessly suffer. This is especially tragic when God made the provision for all of us over two thousand years ago. What a disservice by the churches for BPDs and non-BPDs!

Satan has deceived Christians for decades that they cannot have demons. The church is responsible, in my opinion, for not preaching the truth of God's Word to educate the Saints and offer Healing and Deliverance Ministries to all. Remember, the Christian cannot be possessed, but can be infected in many ways with evil spirits. The battle is in the mind, and the mind is the main target for demons to torment and alter the Christians thinking processes. It has had devastating effects on those who are hurt and wounded like the BPD. This unfortunately results in altering their theologies by influences of religious demons and deceiving spirits, moving them away from God's Word and truth and becoming religious and not Holy Spirit filled, thus furthering them from ever receiving deliverance and possibly what God has for them in the way of blessings. The church supports these unbiblical theologies so as not to offend the leadership and congregation, or fear from loss of tithing from offended heavy hitter members.

When one comes to Christ in their heart and becomes a new Christian, they should be immediately ministered to without a delay in deliverance to remove the evil spirits as well as becoming baptized. This needs to take place to remove the demons who would normally be carried over to one's walk with the Lord. Demons interfere with the new Saint's relationship with God and their walk with a holy sanctified life.

I am sure you have seen Christians in the church that you know have in their hearts accepted Jesus Christ and received the Holy Spirit, but fall on their faces and go right back to their old nature from time to time. They then repent and struggle to regain what they lost in the spiritual sense, moving forward and then backward. That can go on for years. This is because the demons that they had before they were saved are still in their body and mind and attack whenever the Christian starts to make progress that would honor the Lord. This is frustrating for the Christian must less for a BPD and sometimes they end up walking away from the church altogether, at least for a season. This is a never-ending cycle that can continually damage a BPDs ability to feel close to God since they think God has left them and rejected them, maybe, even thinking that they have once again committed the unpardonable sin because tragedy continually strikes them. So in their minds, therefore, God must not love them since this keeps happening. However, the BPD never sees they are the cause of their own demise being driven and harangued by evil spirits. When anyone is in this predicament, interventions from other Christians who are walking in the spirit and have strong deliverance anointing, are possibly the only ones who can release the BPD from this terrible curse keeping them from dying prematurely.

The responsibility has been given to the church to assure this does not happen, but they have tuned there back on what God commanded them to do, so all around the country, small deliverance ministries are cropping up because the need is more than ever to minister to the afflicted. These may only be our last line of defense if the church does not stand up and start casting out demons in the name of Jesus Christ to set the captives free.

These teachings of deliverance are not new. They have been in plain sight right from the beginning and should have been implemented long ago. Since they have not, and the devil has used science to explain the supernatural with scientific garble, that if you really dissect these theories they have no real content other, then theory. It is much like the theory of evolution based on a man who was angry with God for the death of his daughter and now is taught as fact. Darwinism has been an influence of leaders such as Hitler to reason why extermination is necessary leading to Eugenics, setting way to wide spread acceptance of abortion. And when you open the files of these theories, you eventually come to the last folder that has nothing in it. Does this sound like it came from the God of the Universe? I think not! The devil can only counterfeit since he is not the original creator. Like witchcraft, it is basically mimicking the gift of the Holy Spirit. And sometimes can be confusing where the powers are coming from. Nevertheless, since God is not the author of confusion then anything other than truth is from the Satan. It's that simple. So since BPD is surrounded by confusion, lies and deception, there can be no question to the author of all personality disorders. After all, this is not how God made us and nor does he wish his people to suffer with all that goes with these mental disorders.

I have a rule of thumb that has never failed me in determining the true spiritual nature of any individual I have worked with. And that is abortion and where they stand with it. Now, the world has told us it is all right to end a so called blob of flesh to exist. However, in reality, God has put a spirit into this, the conceived individual, at the point of conception and is now a child of God. He is now bought and paid for through the blood of Jesus Christ. To think we can just distinguish this life without a price to pay is pure demonic ignorance. This devil hates us, our children, and the unborn even more. I think because they represent life and purity since they have not been corrupted and not swayed yet to service the devil and thus are a threat to his kingdom and assigns task forces to eliminate as many as possible. I say this because of a particular deliverance years earlier, where a demon manifested and repeatedly said through the infected victim... kill all children, we must kill the children! The main spirit behind this horrific outburst was Molech, and to be in agreement with this spirit is an abomination to the very nature of who God is. We must be the protector of children, not the destroyer!

If you are a BPD or have been in relationship with a BPD and ended up turning to abortion so as not to bring a life into the turbulent relationship thinking it is best do this, when in fact they have made a terrible mistake. A mistake that is forgivable under the blood and you can be released through true repentance of this terrible sin. In reality, the spirits should have been cast out of the BPD and the non-BPD, thus giving the newborn child the right to a fulfilling life that God intended it to have. Not death and destruction, and the body parts sold off for corporate gain. See the lie now! We are to fight for life. We are to fight for the unborn and those who cannot defend themselves. We are not to be the ones who eliminate it because of our spiritual ignorance. As the saying goes, the devil is in the details. God through Jesus Christ heals and delivers. We have not as a whole moved forward in the name of Jesus Christ and taken authority over the devil. Because of that, millions of children are either killed through abortion or are left with no defense we should have been giving them. No wonder BPD and other disorders are running wild all over the world. The closer we get to the end times the more will see this happening! Again, God is truth and the devil is a liar. And when the truth is compromised then the devil will have all he needs in the spirit realm to move forward. All BPDs and non-BPD's can have truth. And that truth is Jesus Christ. And the devil is a liar!

Chapter 5 - Christians Can Have Demons?

Now for those who think Christians cannot have demons you'll have to just talk to the hand! I touched on the basics of this issue in a prior chapter. Other Bible deliverance and demonology teachings that can explain this biblical explanation of infestation concerning Christians in much more detail are available and are quite accurate. Where does it say in the Bible that Christians cannot have demons? If you're trying to point out that light and dark cannot co-exist in the same place then you're talking about the spirit man. But there is the mind, body and soul and so on for the demons to infest and torment, but not possess. Once the demonic is in the mind of the individual, they have a field day acting out their ugly nature.

After years, I have seen young and old released of demons and freed from their sicknesses (all whom were professing Christians) time and time again through deliverance by casting out their demons in the name of Jesus Christ. I now don't even try to debate a non-spirit filled Christian or non-believer over this issue anymore. I have not the time or energy. Frankly, you should be ashamed of possibly keeping someone else from getting healed and delivered by basically disobeying a direct commandment of Jesus Christ who was doing the will of the Father. You yourself, have continued the lie of Satan that is Christians cannot have demons and probably you, yourself, need to go through deliverance to get the religious and deceiving spirits that even Jesus Christ himself could not stand to be in the same room with and dealt with them straight forward in the Temple.

Again, the Great Commission, included casting out demons, healing the sick and setting the captives free. That is you and I and the BPD in your life! If you can get to a young BPD or non-BPD, you have a better success rate in a shorter time span if you start earlier in removing their demons. Why? The demons' strongholds and voices that kept them in bondage have not completely set up their fortress. When you hit them hard with the blood of Jesus Christ, their walls crumbles down much faster than if you wait until they are young adults, or are already in a destructive marriage. A marriage that probably was a setup in the first place because nobody was clean or free from generational curses and evil spirits beforehand whose spirits intentionally brought the man and the woman together only to destroy them in time. That destruction is now possible because of the generational demonic spirits that now have gained strength with the two families combining together that have not renounced past sins. The spirits have been given new authority by combined generational sins, or sins committed by the man and woman while in relationship, usually through premarital sex. Before marriage or during a marriage, the spirits setup entry and strongholds that keep all in bondage. Now, see why there is so much divorce today! We are at a war that does not take prisoners, only eliminates God's people! God hates divorce because the blood covenant between the man and woman has been broken. He also hates to see his Saints devastated emotionally through their broken hearts. That now is an entry point for the demonic to torment and destroy the family that God so loves and wishes none should perish.

Charismatic witchcraft can come from a BPD that is in the ministry and may be placed there by Satan to act in his behalf using the Jezebel spirits. The BPD may have no idea they are operating in this spirit. If you have deliverance, prophetic and intercessory ministry, take my advice and screen carefully your ministry personnel. Both men and women are subjected to this spirit. Not all BPD will be acting in behalf of this spirit; normally, the high-functioning BPD's that can juggle several deceiving lies at one time can carry this out. They use the spirit world as their guide making everyone think that they have prophetic gifts from the Holy Spirit which, in fact, is of the dark side and spew curses in their prophesying and setting up a church to eventually split; or wait to seduce the minister or others in the congregation to collapse the ministry with sexual misconduct scandals later. BPD's tend to be promiscuous seducing experts who work in tandem of either incubus, succubus, unclean or witchcraft spirits. These spirits are masters of sexuality that can make a seasoned hardened man or woman of God fall prey. Even if the man or woman does not fall prey, they (Jezebel/BPD) may say they did it anyway and convince others you are a sexual deviant that needs to be reprimanded, and thus achieving their primary goal anyway in destroying the ministry or individual, even when you are totally innocent. Remember, Satan is a liar!

You must remember that the BPD is only trying to survive through this behavior and needs deliverance, not condemnation since this is all they know and have become a master of survival. So if you do find this taking place, handle them the way Jesus Christ would and love them so they do not act out in borderline fashion and commit a preemptive strike. If you offend a BPD operating in full Jezebel spirit, and make them mad at your ministry or you in particular, you will see firsthand what Elijah experienced under the tree when asking God to end his life. I believe that some of the most powerful spirits were released on Elijah as he sat in torment from anxieties, depression and spirits of suicide that were released from Jezebel's spoken words. How could this be? When one operates continually from the dark-side using the demonic as their tools for control and revenge, they gain strengths and have demonic powers that will only in time turn on them and eventually they themselves will be destroyed. No winners, as you can see when using witchcraft or sorcery, all will fall in time.

God is not going to allow this spirit to operate for any length of time and has warned us repeatedly to stay away from such practices. Jezebel's ending was prophesied and came to pass. Notice that it was the eunuchs who obeyed their new King of Israel, Jehu, that threw Jezebel over the wall and down to her doom. Eunuchs who could not be sexually captured or enticed were probably sick of her anyway with Jezebel's condescending and narcissistic behavior.

A man or women can be seduced by the opposite sex, or even the same sex with seducing unclean spirits pointed at them. These are seductions that draw in people to be used later for the demon's dirty work who will even be sacrificed if needed, thus saving the skin of the BPD/Jezebel making it someone's fault. Even storing up sinful information, like getting the dirt on someone so to say, to control them or removing them if needed through exposing them for their hidden sins, or perceived sins. This is crafty and narcissistic and can be the tactic of a BPD to protect them if necessary just like Jezebel. What can be extremely dangerous and unexpected is the loss of control of a situation by a BPD can be perceived as a danger in the minds of a BPD, and then striking out on innocent victims at any moment that have no idea what is going on! Leaving the non-BPD confused and wounded over a matter they did not even know existed.

Anyone can make a mistake in his or her ignorance. Nevertheless, to make a conscious choice to dabble in witchcraft when you know the truth, and you proceed anyway, is causing yourself and your generational bloodline to be massively infected with evil spirits. These spirits seem to gain strength with everyone who Jezebel cuts down. Moreover, everyone she deceives or blackmails with her charm and knowledge of your sins to be held against you later. This spirit will infect any Christians, who steps out of God's Holy order. Taking over the host, being a BPD or non-BPD and proceeding forward to trap and ensnare God's people for the reason of you and others not to fulfill their God given purpose.

Once you have been struck down by a Jezebel spirit, possibly using the BPD as a tool or vessel, you never see the spirit world the same. If we had been taught this tactic of the enemy to use other Christians from the churches, we would not have had this lackadaisical attitude about spiritual warfare and Jezebel could not be allowed to operate in secret and dismantle all we have worked so hard to achieve, both in and out of the churches. So I'm going to assume that Jezebel operates under the radar, for the most part. In that sense, Jezebel's are extremely infected with evil spirits. A man or women can be a carrier of this spirit. Then they could be triggered to manifest just like a BPD and display the textbook symptoms, thus revealing the spirits that are using the BPD/Jezebel to carry out destruction and exposing them in the action. Once exposed, this would give the BPD/Jezebel a chance for the healing and deliverance they so desperately need. After all, they almost never seek help either biblically or physically when truth and light are cast over lies and darkness, such as seen in some Holy Spirit enriched services. People start to shake, quiver and even convulse with spirits being under the power of the Holy Ghost and revealing their ugly nature. This is not the Holy Spirit filling them as so many seem to tend to think, but, rather God exposing these spirits who have infested his people. However, unfortunately many churches and Christians just don't see it for what it is and actually encourage it instead of commanding this spirit that has manifested to come out. You would see a whole different situation occur right in front of the church if Saints would do this. Nevertheless, the pastor would probably ask you to leave and not return. How tragic that the person manifesting will not be delivered and set free. Now, if a BPD was to manifest it would be interesting to see which spirit God calls to judgment before the congregation and it would be interesting to see if the BPD would fully repent.

Notice I said fully. Remember they are deceived and think others are at fault for their life of misery.

Will the BPD willfully repent before the Lord and turn away from such things and be redeemed? A BPD will need help with breaking away from witchcraft since they think it is how they are going to survive. They need to be healed and set free, so they themselves can serve in the ministry to heal others. They could be an asset to a ministry once they are set free because who better to understand the misery that takes place in a BPD mind and soul. This is a win-win, in my opinion. God loves us all and wishes none shall perish!

If God can use the disciples whom Christ ministered, then he can use BPD's and others who are oppressed and tormented. This does happen, and we need to encourage the churches to implement more healing and deliverance ministries so all of God's children can be set free and serve the Lord in ways that only brings blessing, not curses. The choice is ours. If a BPD needs help with this then I pray when the opportunity arises for a BPD to be set free, that there will be a church or deliverance ministry ready and able to fulfill the great commission and set the captives free. Glory be to God and may the praises of him be on the lips of all BPD and non BPDs alike.

Remember, "We have not been given a spirit of fear, but of power and of love and a sound mind," says the Lord!

Chapter 6 - Where is God in all this?

Now, since God is who He is, is perfect in all His ways, and has put His laws into place from day one, He is not the problem here or to blame. I am speaking about the church and going to point out that the church leaders over the past two thousand years have not kept God's Word and the commandments of Jesus Christ which is plainly illustrated in Isaiah 61 and in Luke, chapter five with examples throughout the New Testament. The church needs to be on the front line of defense for the afflicted... God's children! I did cover some of this in past chapters.

My focus is on BPD for now and how it affects thousands and millions of people who are Christians and non-Christians alike, bringing to light that it is a spiritual problem and not a psychiatric issue, but simply a demon manifestation in a particular arrangement that has a distinct pattern making it a textbook diagnosis per the DSM-IV-TR (2004). This also includes post-traumatic stress syndrome from past and possibly present abuses which could be self-inflicted from extreme behaviors or the trauma induced to the BPD during the offensives that opened the doors for the demonic entry when combined with Dissociation Disorder (SCID-D) or sometimes called alter personality or multiple personality. In some cases BPD is combined with Bi-polar Disorder (manic depression). Possibly, the BPD may have been treated in the past as having Bi-polar Disorder, but being misdiagnosed since the symptoms can have similar traits. Alternatively, the BPD tricked the psychologist in hiding who they really are. Deception is part of their survival. On the other hand, the psychologist pasted them on to someone else for treatment without a proper diagnosis knowing they did not have the skill to deal with them properly. Deception seems to be the name of the game here on both sides. The BPD is masterful in manipulation in most circumstances and possibly the psychologist has been bitten before by a BPD and wants nothing to do with them ever again! A full-blown BPD can damage even the best therapists through transference of spirits and the therapist does not even know why they themselves are starting to have problems with their own behavior now especially if a bond or soul tie has been formed between the patient and the therapists. This has been known to happen time and time again, and it's a move of Satan to hold both in torment making an open door to anyone involved including the therapist. This is another tactic of the enemy to infect others and hide as they work in stealth to kill, still and destroy. I have seen doctors and physiologists be tricked, ensnared and completely conned by BPDs.

Now, does this game of lies sound like it came from God? Absolutely not! It's straight from the pit of hell and has infected people for thousands of years and it does seem to be on the rise as the days near the end times. Familiar spirits are gaining access through occult practices, witchcraft and just plain being of this world. It is hard to deliver those infected when they blame God for their conditions. When, in fact, it really is Satan and his demons pulling all the strings like a puppeteer.

Borderline Personality Disorder seems to separate the infected from God since God is the ultimate authority figure. And BPDs have trouble accepting and embracing God and those who are over them. Unfortunately, since they cannot accept an authority figure because of possibly losing control or lack of trust as an example, they never feel the closeness of God and experience him as our spiritual Father but instead run from him and think they are dirty inside with toxic shame of what has happened in their lives; and think they have committed the unpardonable sin, which is nonsense. God is waiting with open arms to receive them, have the church intercede for them and bring them back into full relationship with our Father.

Satan has the BPD so confused with deceiving spirits and spirits of suicide that they think if it is revealed by confessing their sins that God would never forgive them and cut them down on the spot. Conversely, they think they are so sinful and broken, that God could not ever love them. Again, does this sound like its coming from God? I don't know how any church relaying this information about their hurting congregation could turn their back on their Saints, and not start a deliverance ministry to stop the torment, release the captives and fulfill the Great Commission. It makes me think of how infected the church is today that causes them not to see what is really going on and step out and help all people like infected BPD Saints. Again, where's God in all this? He is waiting on us to do the commandments; Jesus Christ called on us to do. It's our responsibility. He has commissioned us to take up the sword of the spirit and fight for the oppressed and set the captives free. Jesus Christ paid the debt so we would not have to. Now that's love!

How does a BPD view God? That is a good question. I think it is going to vary from one to another depending on how infected they are, as in the classification, whether high-functioning compared to a low-functioning BPDs. One must be careful not to judge the hearts of others. Remember the BPDs are acting out with a brain that has been hard-wired by demonic spirits, sometimes over decades to protect them from the deep pain of coming back in like a freight train! Post-traumatic stress disorder works much the same way. In fact, how could a BPD not have this in some way or another from all the traumatic episodes that have occurred in their life with abuse and rejection? They are acting out to try and stop it from happening, only to just make things worse with emotions out of control being demonically induced. After all, PTSD is demonically induced and they feed on the pain and suffering generated by their victims.

If God was not a loving God, he would not have sent his Son to die for our sins. However, when someone is so demonically infected and emotionally destroyed from the spiritual attacks, it's hard for them to understand or perceive God's loving-kindness. God has never left them or forsaken them. Nevertheless, if the bloodline of the BPD is cursed from past sins and no one is available to intercede for the BPD and others, then they must go through life seeing God as an angry Father, possibly like their own when they were children. They cannot except or understand who God really is. This is one of Satan's most terrible acts of evil, to withhold our Father's love from us. Nominally, in our affections for our Father's love, we can rest and not be weary every minute of every day.

Even so, this is not the case of the BPD. They continually seek other avenues of appreciation, loving relationships and peace, but never finding it. They have a large hole inside their spirit man, like looking into two mirrors that are pointing at each other, and seeing an endless maze to eternity that is empty with no hope.

This is one of the main reasons a BPD is so sexually promiscuous, even in marriage. They are continuously looking for love and acceptance to fill this hole in their hearts by using sexuality as a tool to draw someone in. Alternatively, even punish a spouse with adultery for letting the BPD down, or the perception of letting him or her down. However, in this act alone they end up out of God's laws with fornication and adultery, thus opening them up to more transferences of evil spirits which have now developed a soul tie to a new partner complicating the relationship even further. Not to mention the destructive nature of being so sexually active with all the sexually transmitted disease one can get. They never consider it at the time and put even their spouses at risk.

So God is not the problem, but the solution. The real problem is breaking the demonic stronghold of deception that binds the BPD in thinking God is not ever going to love them or forgive them. You can imagine how tormenting that is in itself for the BPD to hold in their spirit. No wonder the evil spirits have such an ability to manipulate a BPD or even a non-BPD when they think they have no self-worth, because they think, God has rejected them. However, God is right where he was from the beginning, in the middle of it all, waiting on us to move forward and cast out demons, heal the sick and have a relationship with him for eternity that includes all of us. For God wishes no one should perish.

I mentioned toxic shame earlier. This is a tool that demons use to completely isolate a BPD and non-BPD from God's love by making them think they are beyond repair and completely flawed, combining them with fear spirits that cripple even the strongest at heart. Once these have entered in, they start to control the mind with emotional turmoil that hopefully most of us will never experience. Best describing it is like hell in your head with non-stop mental torment for the severely infected. Even so, this is all a lie and what they are experiencing is not a dysfunction of the mind, but one lie on top of another lie and so on. If this can be communicated to the BPD or others that the whole thing is a trickery of demons lying, they could be straightened in their own will and start to see the whole picture for what it really is. All lies! God loves us all, God made us in His image, God never intended us to perish. So if demons can slip in and make one think the opposite, then they have got you! They start to set up camp and move in other demons by your self-inflicted behaviors that induce more sin. Sin is the key for demonic entry or past generational sins that have not been broken and combined with new sins as already mentioned. This can be a downward spiral that engulfs a BPD to depth in pain and suffering that only those I think who are already in hell experience. My heart breaks whenever I see this happening because I have seen firsthand the pain and suffering that goes on in the minds of a BPD. It's like they never really have a good day!

I had a BPD once ask me to kill them so the suffering would end. This is a request that says the demons have infected them completely, and they need intervention right away. Hearing this request is something you never forget. What is even more disheartening is that it all can stop and be removed from the minds of a BPD with the blood of Jesus Christ, but most never receive ministering from the church but continue through life being used for fun and games by demons to act out their ugly nature over and over again. This type of lie I was able to overcome myself twenty-five years ago before I became a Christian. I was having crippling panic attacks that made me think I was having a heart attack. After a complete physical my doctor diagnosed that it was panic attacks and not a bad heart. He said for me to go home, look into the mirror and say hello to my worst enemy. Meaning, it was all in my head, and I was allowing this to happen. I did not take the news well because I did not understand that I could be at fault for something that was so terrifying to me. Now, let me point out that I was not a Christian at the time and did not know that Jesus Christ was my Lord and Savior. However, the next time the attacks started, I fought not to let it creep in and take over my mind. I was not successful the first time, but I knew something was different and that it did not over take so easily. The second time I did fight it off, but struggle to retake control. The third time when it started I resisted it, and it crumbled and did not happen. I was convinced with what just happened that it really was all in my head and did not fear it anymore. It's been over two decades now and have never experienced it again. Now, I know it really was fear demons implanting this in my mind and since I did not except it, they had no power over me, even though I was not a Christian. So praying is one way of defending one self. Nevertheless, taking authority over the demonic is how you cast out demons and keep them from tormenting you and others through the paid price of Jesus Christ. If you can build up a BPD and get the truth in them, they will be able to stand against the wiles of the enemy and be set free. Truth, not lies, with God's Word, needs to be in the hearts and minds so the devil cannot trick us anymore and torment us.

God made provisions. He is willing and has made the first and main step for us to be delivered from our pain, suffering and all the lies. So this is where God is. Right in the middle of it all, standing right next to you and others waiting on the Christian Church, to fulfill, submit and complete his commandments through the Blood of Jesus Christ. As long as BPD is still alive there is hope. Never give up!

Chapter 7 - What is in the BPD Mind?

There are classifications of BPD ranging from extremely low to fully functional. Even so, all collapses and have an incident sooner or later in borderline fashion. I am only going to describe the more severe cases of BPD. Not all will behave with such extremism, nor should all BPD be classified as being dangerous when triggered. I think some BPDs have more infestations of evil spirits than others, and the spirits have set up camp deeper in the BPD soul, body and mind, or have taken more control of their alter personalities. For whatever reason some are not as severe, and I thank God that not all are taken to the depth of Satan during their torment and drag others with them.

The reality is the afflicted from any of these symptoms are being tormented beyond the comprehension of most that have never experienced it firsthand. Mental torment is a battle taking place in the minds and hearts of the demon's victims. If we could see it taking place outside the body, we would immediately come to their aid as if they were being assaulted by perpetrators. However, since we cannot, then those who are educated beyond their intelligence, write books, hand out medications and talk about the day they will find a cure but really will accomplish nothing, on the long run. In the meantime, people (God's Saints) are dying a slow painful death that breaks the heart of our God. Here are a few examples of the emotional turmoil that takes place in the mind of the BPD. What I am about to describe I have first-hand knowledge from the past being a non-BPD in relation with a BPD. I am now serving in the deliverance ministry and seeing quite clearly these spirit manifestations taking place with others every day in the church just like it did years ago. Nothing has changed, only that over time it is a new group of individuals cycling through the ministry for deliverance. One of my strongest gifts is the ability to relate to BPD victims who are wounded and fractured. They are seeking assistance in making sense of all this, trying to redefine who they once were.

First, let's get a picture of the changing moods and how fast they can alter from one spirit to the next. In my opinion multiple personalities are combined and will be a part of this example given. They are prodded by the spirits to react and rise up. Now, also keep in mind that the BPD is in survival mode and is trying not to feel the torment, or is in fear of losing control at any moment by being triggered from an event. Fear of abandonment is one of the main triggers for BPD, but not always. Have you ever held a full automatic rifle, such as an assault rifle capable of firing hundreds of rounds each minute? This is one example of how when a BPD is triggered they are trying to survive the emotional roller coaster taking place in their minds. A BPD can project out every emotion possible like a bullet out of automatic rifle at a pace that can only be demonically inspired and orchestrated.

First there is fear of abandonment or perceived abandonment by the BPD that the non-BPD is going to leave the relationship. Then there is rage displaying out of control anger at the non BPD for not fulfilling their needs, thus failing the BPD in their minds and seeing the non BPD as all bad with no good in them. So now the non-BPD is the enemy and must be punished at all cost for hurting the BPD or perceived assault by the non-BPD. I used to see this as pistons in an engine firing off one cylinder at a time. Fear, hate, rage, retaliation and so on leaving the non-BPD traumatized because of such extreme intense emotions being focused on them at that moment. At that moment, the non-BPD may either run for their lives or choose to stand and fight. Either option is a lose-lose condition since the BPD cannot be rationally dealt with at this time and probably not for hours later, especially if there are drugs or alcohol involved. So, if the non-BPD chooses to flee, the self-fulfilling prophecy that the non-BPD was going to abandon them in the first place, has now become reality. This now makes this event even more emotional to the BPD. One more time their emotions have stepped up to a new level making them completely out of control with fear that can be only experienced on the battlefield by soldiers in a life-or-death fight. Then, how dare you (non-BPD) not stand there and take my punishment, thinks the BPD for the non-BPD being such a terrible person. This brings the rage to an ever higher level, when you would think that would be impossible, but it is. When, in reality, no one could ever tolerate this intense hell taking place at a drop of a hat! While you're thinking up, they're thinking down, you are thinking left and they are thinking right. There is no coming to a center ground or a gray area to work this out... you are a bad... bad... person perceived in the mind of the BPD at that moment. There is a chance that just moments before this took place, they were in each other's arms, and the BPD sensed something or perceived sense that the non-BPD did not enjoy the closeness, thus sending the BPD spinning off like a top. What the non-BPD may have really been thinking is how wonderful it would be to spend the rest of the day enjoying the romance, and then all hell breaks loose! A great book to read that helps illustrate this example is I Hate You Don't Leave Me, by Jerold J. Kreisman, M.D., & Hal Straus.

So, the main ingredients are fear and lies. Fear demons have taken hold and most likely came in through abuse as a child or young adult. Second is self-hatred or low self-worth. They see themselves as not able to hold their own emotionally, physically and intellectually. When, in fact, they may be an attractive individual who has a high intelligence. Now they have the spirit of deception and are completely deceived in who they think they are. That is in their deepest inner feelings of themselves; they know there is something wrong with them. Nevertheless, in order to cope with this terrible feeling of hopelessness, they alter their perception of reality and split off into someone else putting that painful thought away in their minds just so they don't have to confront it on a daily basis. Now let's reinstate the fact that this is a lie and we know demons gain control and manipulate through lies. So now the demons have control of the main person and also have control of the alter person and so the dance begins. This may not be a line for line description of every BPD and how they are affected. However, it seems to be a building block of the demons and how they operate. So, again, an act of sin committed against them, letting in fear demons was the main root of the infliction. Through fears, demons can control the BPDs behavior causing them to sin even more, thus letting in more demons; with the BPD splitting off even more alters in their minds to continue the barring of their pain and suffering, hoping not to experience it again, this, being not the case since the demons have the ability to inject thoughts into the mind. Re-inflicting the images of the past repeatedly at the most inappropriate moment, thus starting the tumbling of emotions that so characterizes the BPDs. As you can see this is a deep infestation of the demonic that supersedes most other disorders in its class.

Demons feed on rage, anger and fear and are having the time of their lives watching one child of God destroy another child of God during these outbursts, which is all sin. And now more demons have a right of entry because of the trauma conditions and the sins taking place. The BPD has no idea what is happening, they're just trying to cope with their emotions as a coping mechanism in ways that stifle most non-BPDs. In a few hours after the event, the BPD may act like nothing has happened and may be now displaying extreme love for the non-BPD, but the non-BPD is now so wounded and traumatized it will take hours or days to recover. This is how post-traumatic stress syndrome is sometimes set up in the non-BPD, like waiting for the other shoe to drop at any moment. As you can see from this example that this experience really is not even humanly possible, it's a combination of demons' affliction taking place like a tag team-reselling match with one striking and then another striking. Unless you have not seen this take place with your own eyes it would be almost impossible to imagine the extreme emotion being displayed or focus on one single individual. This is abuse to a level that only those in this situation could have ever experienced or could believe.

I would like to add that this is terrible for anyone to experience whether BPD or non-BPD. No one is blaming anyone for this behavior or criticizing the action of the BPD. They are terribly tormented and emotionally ill from spiritual attacks from the demonic realm and need the love of our God and the blood of Jesus Christ to comfort them and heal them after they have been delivered. If you do not get the demons out, they will just go dormant and attack again after strategically setting up the next fall to inflict more pain and suffering to all involved.

War accomplishes the same things to the victims of an assault. Traumatizing them with bombs and killing their loved ones and thus setting up demonic stronghold with such sinful violations against the innocent. The Taliban is full of borderlines and have proven to be compliant soldiers since they need to feel a part of a bigger picture and have no self-worth. This type of dedication is all for the wrong reasons since we do not serve the same God or the purpose of the God we serve. The devil does not play fair, and you cannot negotiate with evil. Full spiritual warfare needs to be administered to both parties afflicted with BPD. The sooner the better!

But, most BPD will not seek help in this realm of either spiritual or psychological assistance. If they are under treatment, it is usually because somewhere they were hospitalized from what is called passive suicide (maybe overdosing) or cutting themselves and were finally diagnosed during hospitalization. However, when released, they find ways not to go back to be found out again. They will avoid having whom they are exposed, and take down anyone who may be willing to help them not knowing what they're dealing with. Again, this is not human, but demonic. This is part of their protection mechanism since they really do not trust anybody, especially authority figures that in their minds were the cause of the sickness in the first place, alternatively, betrayed by them making the wounds even deeper. Betrayal as a child can set up BPD as well. They know, deep down, they are sick or flawed, thus setting up possible multiple personalities as another coping mechanism to survive with, no longer dealing with the offense or reality of their condition that is now stowed away deep in another part of the child or adult's mind. How tragic for the BPD that these hurts and wounds will come, flying out sooner or later at the most inappropriate time and they don't even know why! Then, the spirit of shame and guilt moves in and starts the whole process all over again.

We are all individuals and act differently under different circumstances. However, fight or flight is in all of us. This is brought on by fear and when fears steamroll over a BPD, anything can happen during that episode to regain control or attempt to ride the fear away. Since it is demonic, there is no logic or reason that makes any sense to the non-BPD, leaving them traumatized. Now, fear may have been introduced into the non-BPD mind and the cycle starts all over again in the new victim. This is not a chemical issue. This is hardwiring of the mind much like the wiring of a computer. The more short cuts to react in fear, the more control and reaction the demons will get. Again, this is all based on lies. However, the BPDs mind has been so hardwired at this point over time that the lies become who they are and who they are is based on the lies and incidences that have happened to them in the past. Now you know why recovery is so low with BPDs under conventional treatments or medications until the lying spirits are removed, and truth restored. Then the BPD can finely start to distinguish reality from lies and hold onto the truth. They will forever be fighting in their minds the demons that are so tormenting them. With the attempt to control situations, a BPD will turn to drugs and alcohol. Even turn to witchcraft or some forms of cultist practices looking for an answer that will relieve their suffering. In this way they can become extremely powerful in the demonic spirit realm. Jezebel was an example of a powerful BPD, using forces that even rocked some of God's most elite Saints.

This leads into another problem. We have all been given free choice. When an individual chooses to sin or operates in witchcraft knowing full well not to, then they may have gained powers through higher levels than normal from the demonic realm. This person can be a dangerous individual to anyone who crosses him or her. Revenge can come straight from the pit of hell to the one that is in the sights of the user of such practices. Nevertheless, destruction is certain to anyone who does such things. In time the devil will come for payment for his services rendered and will come in ways that can only be creatively demonic. So it is important to deliver BPDs and non-BPDs from this nightmare that is surely going to come if the Holy Spirit is not welcomed into the situation. These practices were punishable by death in the Old Testament Bible. This was for a good reason. Once this sin is allowed to take hold all will face attacks that can be so terrifying of the mind and body that some will choose suicide to escape the torment. Repentance is completely necessary for deliverance to be successful. For without repentance the BPD will just be re-infected, and possibly even worse off than before, if that is even possible to comprehend. So, we're back to the spirit of lies. Until the lies are removed the BPD may not be able to fully repent and forgiveness has set deeply in the BPD's heart since they blame anyone who has ever let them down, or perceived as letting them down. Just as described with repentance, without forgiveness then not much will be achieved through deliverance. So once again the lies that continue in the mind of the BPD holds them hostage not to forgive. Keeping them in bondage and then missing what God has for them. This sin will continue to the next generation. The BPD is most likely cursed from past generational sins, continuing down for possibly hundreds of years and will continue until someone intercedes and breaks the chains and releases the demonic hold on the family.

If for only one moment you could experience the BPD torment, you being a non-BPD, what would it be like? I pray that you never know this first hand. But one thing for sure is that there is an answer to the cries of the BPD for help. So the church needs to repent of not being a full fold ministry, and start delivering their people. When this happens, then there will be life when there was surely death, and light where there was only darkness with truth, when it was all lies, ending the nightmare for all.

Chapter 8 - BPD can have Psychic Abilities

If you are in a relationship with a BPD, it becomes quite clear over time that there is a supernatural activity that reveals itself in the form of clairvoyant abilities at a minimum. Even physical manifestations along with eerie spiritual surroundings of the environment, just when you think all is well. This includes changes that take place in the face and eyes of the BPD while you're communicating with them, especially if you're in a heated debate. You may experience changes over weeks or months. It's like viewing a different person from one day to the next. Even photographs will reveal this observable fact over time. But this is only on the surface of the spiritual encounters, there's more behind this phenomenon than most could ever imagine.

Witchcraft seems to go hand and hand with BPD along with Pharmacia mixed with sorcery and even complete divination and so on. Most of the witchcraft encountered is not blatant or on purpose and seldom even noticed until an occurrence takes place and then all hell breaks loose. Leaving you unable to comprehend what is going on. The BPD may never really know that they are using the Black Arts to attempt to control the situation so as not to feel the painful inner emotions. If I were to sum it up I would say that the BPD carries with it almost all the demonic spirits in whole or in part. I also believe that some of the spirits have the ability to leave and return at will in and out of the body of the BPD. I've heard this revolving door of spirits referred to as timeshare demons, taking place not just in the mind and body, but also in the BPDs surroundings affecting those who are exposed at that moment. They can leave and haunt someone else and then return. Maybe even the one the BPD is in relationship with can experience transference of spirits or timeshare when they are away in another state, possibly on business or when an episode occurs. There supernatural presence overtakes the situation, and one can feel that there is something both in and outside the body and mind attacking them, not just attacking the BPD, especially, if you are in a sexual relationship with a BPD, in or outside of a marriage! You may experience what can be described as a panic attack and not even be in the same country at the time as the BPD when they have a meltdown. If you are in a sexual relationship, you are one flesh and are more vulnerable, than if you were not in this type relationship due to transference of spirits. A soul tie without being sexually involved can be a cause of transference of spirits as well in a close emotional relationship in most cases. A Christian psychologist informed me that in their counseling practice, they believed all BPD had an open door to the spirit realm and not just an open door, but there was a doorstop in place to keep it open full time. So these open doors, strongholds and soul ties need to be closed, broken off and removed before healing can take place. Giving a BPD psychosomatic drugs to counter their behaviors seems to only perpetuate the spirit Pharmacia with mind-altering thoughts giving the BPD a false sense that all is well. They step out of their comfort zone and maybe have a glass of wine for dinner or some type of alcoholic drink to celebrate the new person or perceived new person. From what I have experienced the two combined together is like mixing acid and solvents. There is going to be an explosion, if not at that moment... soon! The medications, and one being Zantacs, is one I have seen turn on a BPD and trigger major events for days not hours. Combining this drug with alcohol is the devil's martini. No good comes of it.

I would like to point out that during the relationship I had with a BPD, I had no idea what I was being exposed to, even though there was professional psychiatric involvement by being court ordered, because of one episode resulting in an arrest of the BPD. Never once was I informed or consulted of the particular condition or the long terms effects I was to continually encounter. Even though I questioned all medical personnel I came in contact with, no one would talk to me, and they even refused to divulge any patient information! Because of legal non-disclosures, I was never allowed to know any prognosis of what was going on, due to patient's rights. Even as a spouse I was denied any information from the doctors, physiologist and counselors assigned to treat my BPD spouse. And of course, my spouse was not going to sign a disclosure herself, because again, they will protect who they are sometimes even to the death. Before I finally was aware of this disorder, or that it even had a name or classification, I continually sought answers to explain the turbulent relationship I was in. I even tried to document the events to help make sense of the craziness and stinking thinking. I even though possibly there were chemical sensitivities, food allergies and so. Nothing made sense or showed a distinct pattern. Only random episodes of typical BPD outbursts capable of showing up at any moment in any situation, including two o'clock in the morning when one is sound asleep. This is extremely exhausting for anyone, including the therapist to be the focus of a BPD episode.

Law enforcement officers who have no idea what they are dealing with when answering a disturbance call are in confusion over the predicament they find themselves in and only know to deal with them as a criminal threat as per there training. They act accordingly to keep the peace and secure the safety of all those involved including fellow officers. This sometimes is the only way a BPD is diagnosed when brought before a court and a psychiatric evaluation is placed on the BPD, especially after a self-cutting (self-mutilation) episode or threat or attempts of suicide.

Remember their episodes are feared based and are coping mechanisms taking place when triggered by the demonic spirit giving them the one-two punch of attacks combining with other spirits. Probably, someone who has worked in an asylum could understand what I am talking about. Some, but not all the episodes are so extreme, that at times of a major event you'd swear the devil is right in the room with you. In fact, it is not the devil himself, but it his demons that are carrying out their very nature of who they are. Such as rage, anger, fear, panic, murder, suicide and so on. It is one of the most life-changing experiences one could ever encounter. I have always said if you had an army of borderlines you could take any bunker on any hill. Once the enemy understood what they were dealing with they would turn and run for their lives because of the spiritual unleashing of fear and confusion that would be placed on the enemy. The enemy would succumb to massive duress and may even start fighting among themselves in the spiritual chaos not having any idea that spirits are behind it all and feeding on their torment.

I am going to make a declaration that has had me concerned for years now that I have seen real evil manifesting and the destruction it has caused. Not just with BPD, but the time I have spent in Law Enforcement and Search & Rescue enabled me to see evil in the souls of criminals that would rather kill innocent people than to submit to authority. I believe when the great tribulation takes place and even before that the examples I have given on what goes on inside and outside of a BPD mind and body will be dwarfed by the release of evil that we cannot comprehend. We are warned about this taking place in the book Revelation in the New Testament. Deliverance is so important to free the Saints to be prepared for what is about to come whether you're pre-trip, post-trip or mid-trip rapture orientated. We need to do what Jesus Christ commanded us to do. Not only to get our own house in order, but, prepare all who are still alive to be healed and delivered to be ready to assist in the Kingdom of God and not be a casualty! It is so important to remove occult spirits of witchcraft and fear based demons along with deceiving spirits out of a BPD so they can finally make Godly choices of their own free will, and not be under demonic control that causes self-destruction. If a BPD is allowed to continue operating in forms of necromancy, witchcraft and sorcery, they will continue to spiral downward. Holy Ghost intercession by spirit filled Christians may be the only way to save their life through the gift of Healing and Deliverance.

If you ever had someone actually try and kill you in a rage of demonic anger, you'll know what I am talking about concerning the end times. There is no reasoning; there is no logic, only a look of complete hate that their only function at that moment is to destroy you and all you stand for. We all get upset and angry. We all make mistakes and do something stupid sooner or later that we regret. The normal individual is able to regain control and stop the emotional outburst, stop what they are doing and then come to a state of peace. Even so, the rage of infected demonically controlled individuals is a look into the eye of an ancient being that has hated God's people from day one. They have one goal, and that is to inflict as much pain and suffering as possible, as fast as possible to bring death. This is something not everyone has ever seen. Perhaps those on the battlefield looking eye-to-eye with the enemy, or a police officer dealing with a harden-criminal will ever encounter. I know those who have or are working with the criminally insane see this all the time. This is a clear case of full-blown demonic manifestation where the spirits have control of the person,s mind and body, and extreme caution should be used. You hear case after case where someone murdered another individual or several at one time, and when it was all over they said they did not remember doing it at all. Of course, some cases are merely a perpetrator not confessing the truth. However, others are a fact of being completely under the control of demonic spirits and acting out what the demons are making them do. This is going to become more evident all over the world when the Holy Spirit is no longer holding back the demonic forces and the spirit world will have full run of this earth. Right now the only right demons have is the right you give them through sin and no repentance. This is why it is so important to spread the good news and deliver the Saints. No one wants to be here when this happens. I know I don't! I've seen up close and have personally witnessed what an individual overtaken with demonic spirits can do. Even a well-trained 250-pound male combat fighter will be no match for a 110-pound woman who has the devil's work to do. Stop, repent and surrender to God and accept Jesus Christ now while you still can and join God's Kingdom and do his commandments by helping free God's people now!

Chapter 9 - Jezebel and the BPD

Can two BPDs co-exist in the same relationship? Well, then you need to ask can two Jezebels co-exist in the same Kingdom. Of course not, sooner or later one would extinguish the other. Even so, both would unite to kill a common enemy or perceived enemy, making them extremely treacherous, cunning and destructive and when all is clear, they would go back to see how to remove the other once again. Since there is an extreme level of narcissism and deep wounds in the BPDs they would deplete each other in a very short time trying to draw strength from each other when there is none. Control is another issue. Even in this predicament and most relationships, one of the two is in the most control. Since it is always someone else's fault, there is going to be a fuse lit. It is only a matter of time before the TNT will ignite. Someone or all are going to get hurt. Thus starting the downward spiral, but now it is even more devastating to both parties with no happy ending. This is a psychologist's nightmare, to handle two in one relationship! If you ever saw the movie from the seventies called "Play Misty for Me," with Clint Eastwood, you were given a glimpse of the scenario of BPDs in a relationship showing the intense emotional meltdown that takes place when rejected even though, in the movie, there is only one. Just add one more and see what you get!

So, the point is that when you have two people fighting in the realm of survival exercising their coping mechanisms which are fear based and demonically triggered, someone is going down. Now, in order for Jezebel to operate her needs, she needs Ahabs to support her. If you have a strong-willed individual who will not be easily swayed, then she'll have to remove them or make them submissive somehow. Since BPDs seem to have an inexhaustible amount of crazy making energy, they soon win their place by overwhelming and cause the counterpart to submit or become an enabler just to keep the peace at any cost. Now you have an Ahab ready to jump when they say jump. Alternatively, cowering at the rising of his or her voice, body language or that look we may have seen when someone is displeased with us. This is of course a demon's playground, and they are playing everybody involved like a violin. They feed on this getting stronger, and are then in more control as this dysfunctional relationship drifts further away from God's Holy order.

You can see that this is the basis of witchcraft now that one controls another through intimidation or spiritual attachment. However, finally the fear demons have entered in and the Ahab now becomes completely spiritually controlled. The BPD only needs to send out the spiritual pheromone that can make one tremble without them even knowing why. Charismatic witchcraft is, in my opinion, much like the sending out of prayers that are based out of the dark side instead of being based on the Holy Spirit. The powers I have seen from BPDs or Jezebels sending out the hoards of hell to control or retaliate are incredible and go, deep down, into your very soul and counter any free will, courage or ability to fight back. This kind of spiritual fight is nothing to mess around with. The sender and receiver are in a lose-lose encounter, and it will come back to bite the sender with illnesses, financial loss and possibly an early death through stroke, heart attack or curse of accidents.

Church leaders who may be in sexual sin are extremely vulnerable to this. Once an unclean infected individual gets a leader to sin in this way they will control them to accomplish whatever they want. In addition, the leader(s) risk the chance of being exposed of their sexual sin, being slaughtered publicly and stand to lose everything they ever loved and worked for. Remember, Satan kills, steals and destroys. Nevertheless, take heed to the infected, your time is coming, and you need to repent or be slaughtered in time just like your victims.

This is a good time to reassure you that God is a just God, regardless of what we did, or how far we have gone in the depth of Satan. There is forgiveness and cleaning of all our sins because of Jesus Christ. As long as you still draw breath on this earth, there is hope in the blood. I hope no one ever experiences this kind of witchcraft. Even so, if you ever do, turn it all over to God and ask the Holy Spirit to guide you through it and never give the enemy another foothold or entry point again.

This is why deliverance ministries are so important. When these curses land they don't just give up. Keep in mind that curses are carried out by demons that have an assignment to do. They will try and come back or never leave because of the stronghold that has never been broken. Furthermore, if you're not spiritually strong during this fight and are still wounded you may be infected with fear demons. At this time, let someone else be an intercessor for you until you are strong again and able to stand against the wiles of the enemy. Forgive anyone who may have prayed witchcraft curses on you or your family. You need to release them from what they did or the demons will haunt you for the rest of your life unless you give it all to God. I believe something like this is God's battle also. When your enemy has stepped outside the spiritual boundaries like Jezebel did, only then can the Holy Spirit make things right again. So turn it over to God for wisdom and discernment as what to do. And remember through God's Son, there is the victory. So never give up and seek help from a Healing and Deliverance Ministry just like I did over a decade ago. I believe I would not be here and able to function if I had not done so. Conversely, maybe in time I would have recovered, but it would have been a long slow road. The long battle that otherwise would have continued to regain who God intended me to be may of meant not ministering to others in need in the meantime. What a tragic thought to look back and think of some I have delivered would still be sick or dead if I had not been released!

I need to bring into light that again not all BPD are Jezebels or have the Jezebel spirit. Remembering that they too are tormented and need deliverance is the first thing to keep in mind when dealing with a BPD. Love will prevail when the Holy Spirit is allowed to operate freely in the lives of the infected. It's just getting the BPD to submit to the Holy Spirit, is the real challenge. If this is achieved, then step back and watch the heavens pour out all the blessings on the now delivered BPD. All that has been demonically held back by blocking spirits are no longer able to interfere and the BPD can experience the vertical love of the Father, whom he was waiting for you and I to deliver His children.

I know anyone who has encountered a BPD, or if you are one yourself, you need help, help that can only come from God's loving hand through his Son Jesus Christ and the gifts of the Holy Spirit. We are no match against the devil and his demons without the blood. No matter what you have done. No matter what has happened to you. There is forgiveness, total release of condemnation and restoration of the brokenhearted waiting for you when you have opened up, lay down and accepted the God of the universe and all that he has for you. Then you will experience through his Son the love and protection that he had originally intended for you. It is not your fault that you were sexually molested, abused as a child. It is not God's fault. This cannot be a blame game any longer. You must forgive your perpetrators from the past. They too are being tormented. They too have evil spirits waiting to take them down at any given moment for their unrepentant sins. No one gets away with sins and crimes against God's people. Choose whose side you are on now. May God pull back the demonic veil that has blinded you all these years, keeping you from seeing how God sees you and not the way the devil has made you out to be in your tormented mind? You are treasured and adored by God. His hands are tied since he gave us free will. Meaning, it is our choice what we do with our lives. Free to choose life not death. Free to choose freedom not incarceration of the mind, body and soul. So you had an abortion. You sold your body as a prostitute. You did drugs for years. You stole from all whom knew you, and even possibly murdered someone. It's not too late to come to Jesus Christ and redeem yourself before the creator God himself.

Anything other than what I just described to show you how much God loves you is a lie of the enemy whose only function is to destroy you and your family. Lies that told you were no good. Lies that told you, you had no worth and nobody could love you. You in time developed or were cursed from an early age with demonic spirits that were combined together making what is known as Borderline Personality Disorder, or other disorders of mental illness. This is all you've known as long as you could remember, that this is the way you were and that you are defective. However, you are not! You are known by God from top to bottom, in and out. He is waiting for you to be who He intended you to be. This will come when the Holy Spirit is allowed to operate in your life and then you will start to cast out demons, heal the sick and free the captives.

So if you are struggling with any demonic oppression, then, please find a church or Deliverance Ministry in your area that flows in the spirit of God and has a track record for their fruits of restoration. If any of the information or stories hit a nerve, and you see yourself as having some of these symptoms, then turn your life completely over to God right now. Do not be an instrument of the devil in the end times to help steal, kill and destroy. Get clean now and fight for your life and the life of others. You have a choice just like the millions being delivered now. There is an acceleration of the spirit world as I speak now. The battle is intensifying, and it is now or never to make it right with God.

The day is coming you will wish you made the decision to get delivered. It is not too late and God is waiting!

I cannot stress enough that demons hate your children more than they hate you. You are not the only one at stake here. Your bloodline may have been infected for centuries with demonic curses that will continue through you, your children and your grandchildren. So, your fight is not just for you but, for all the children in your bloodline. When you die, where do you think, the spirits go? They go directly to your children, if there is open sin and infest them. Diseases will continue in the family. Mental illnesses and addictions will plague future generations. The only one standing in the way of the devil is Jesus Christ who through his willful sacrifices has given you the authority and power to overcome Satan and his demons. Nevertheless, you say, I do not know how to pray. I do not know how to warfare, you say! This again is where the church failed us if we had been taught and trained in spiritual warfare from day one and taught correctly without man's corrupted interpretation what God's Word really says about this spiritual fight. We would not be suffering. We would not be going through divorce. We would not be diseased and dying. We would be living life abundantly as God intended for all of us. So now we are on the home stretch in our lifetime. Meaning, time is running out to make a stand and not be a casualty before the book of Revelation is fulfilled.

Chapter 10 - Liberal vs Conservative BPD?

First, we need to define these social-political positions and beliefs known as conservatism and liberalism. Conservatism will be defined as God fearing, which one would then believe the Bible literately. Then under conservatism abortion is wrong. Capital punishment is accepted as long as it is carried out correctly under the law pertaining to justice. The separation of Church and State was based on keeping the government out of the churches right of freedom to practice religion, with government having no jurisdiction to control the belief of the church. What liberalism seems to allow and believe is that it has a right to the killing of the unborn; murderers are allowed rights to exceed their victims. Liberalism seems to think that churches today do not have the right to teach the Bible publicly, including in the schools. Evolution is a fact, not a theory and liberalism has freedom to do whatever they want, even embracing lawlessness. With a philosophy saying... your truth may not be my truth, and what is wrong may be right by me, concluding that liberalism is a total contradiction of God's Word. There is certainly more in the definition of both conservatism and liberalism. However, these definitions seem to give the basic belief of both, and one should understand from here on, my comparative statements pertaining to BPD.

If we place liberalism in a mental illness category as Michael Savage, author and radio talk show host defines it in his book entitled Liberalism is a Mental Disorder, then what is the category of conservatism by liberal theology? What standard are we using or whose standard is defining these definitions? Liberals defining conservatives, and conservative defining liberals in a he said-she said scenario. So you can see the paradoxes and the divisions that will never end. So what standard should we use? I think that is an obvious one and that is the truth! Truth will reveal lies, rectify wrongs and expose corruption. So if you're not interested in the truth, or are not willing to accept it as a baseline of which you are then whether you're a conservative or liberal, your reality will always be skewed in your thought processes. Jesus said, "I am the way, the Truth and the Light, no one comes to the Father but yet through me." This means, no lies, no wrongs, no corruption, and no compromises of the truth. Just, a straight-forward defining of who God is and that through any other means we will not have a relationship with Him. Jesus is the baseline separating good from evil. Evil uses lies, hate, wrongs and corruption to gain control and destroy all of God's creation. Good is based on truth bringing out that which is right with honesty and love. So whether you're liberal or claim to be a conservative, if you don't have truth, then all other actions, knowledge and political stances are a lie since BPD operates in lies for self-preservation, manipulation and control for protecting who they are. Then no matter what a BPD's political position is, they are always going to compromise decisions that would normally be in a prospective order of that political position, always being contradictory of their belief from one mind-altering moment to the next. Remember, Satan is the father of lies!

So what is my point in these examples? My point is to illustrate that spirits of lies heavily infest BPDs' minds, keeping them from seeing the truth and acting on lies as a way of life. One way this can be accomplished is by making the truth to a BPD bring deep inner pain, because demons have convinced them that they are flawed and damaged individuals. For them to see themselves in this way is terrifying to them when fear demons in conjunction with spirits of lies control their minds. Then you have a vicious cycle that would destroy even a non-BPD's constitution of who they are or at a minimal incapacitate even the strongest of wills. So political liberalism seems to carry with it godlessness embracing lawlessness, compromising the truth and the basis of what should bring freedom to those who are in Christ Jesus. Conservatism in its true sense, embraces Godliness and rightful laws established by the people to operate in safety and freedom of tyranny and fear. Nevertheless, if conservatism is compromised with lawlessness and malicious intent for personal gain then there is contamination of evil spirits acting out their ugly nature in the individual's mind, or least for a time until these spirits are cast out.

Now, since truth is the baseline or cornerstone of whom God is, then the act of conservatism is a respect to the established laws by God and man. Then, when and if lies are exposed, what is the action of the individual revealing the truth that has been operating in lies? As long as there are spirits of lies and fear in the minds of BPDs or even in non-BPDs, they most likely will always default back to deception, anger and rejection of the truth in order to protect themselves from the inner pain that demons will inflict on them while they try to seek the truth. So, unless the spirits are removed through deliverance, progress may never be made to any order that proves positive in bringing the BPD closer to the reality in how God truly sees them. God loves us all, it is sin he hates. It is sin that separates us from God, not what demons have told us in our minds what God thinks about us and that he could never love you because you're flawed? This includes any flaws you may have that come from sin and demons orchestrating their ugly nature on your life. We are fallen because of what happened in the Garden of Eden. Even so, we did not start out that way. Flaws do not come from God. He is perfect in all his ways, and we are made in his image. So the devil is a liar, and man can only be restored through the blood of Jesus Christ, no matter what Satan says! I would like to go one step further with Michael Savages statement about liberalism being a mental disorder. What is really going on here is an infestation of their minds completely being disillusioned with demons hammering them with lies, fear, hatred, anger, unbelief and anti-Christ spirits... meaning God-hater demons. So, the result would appear to be a mental disorder, with these symptoms to a psychiatric professional. Where there would nominally be reasonable logic, there is confusion. Where there would be love and compassion, there is the ability to allow death of the innocent and life to those who are guilty without repentance. Where there would be an understanding that we are made in the image of God, has given way to a man cursed with evil and Mother Nature takes precedence over man. Liberals infected minds even go as far with supporting and implementing Eugenics stating that man must be eliminated to preserve the planet. This is nothing more than demons polluting liberals into thinking we are less than whom God sees us as. This is another contradiction with the reality that God put man in command of the earth, and told us to be fruitful and multiply.

I can remember one manifestation of a demon repeatedly saying during deliverance... too many people...too many people! Must win... must win! The demon was crying like a child as it made those statements with fear of losing the war as if we were the evil ones, and they were good and had a duty to carry out by destroying us one by one. They have a powerful desire to emancipate man from any physical existence on earth, sending us right to hell alongside them. To hear and see how evil really feels about us is an awakening by seeing and hearing these ancient spirits act out their ugly nature. We, being God's children, see how much they hate us, which shows us what the reality of the war we are in! Kill or be killed! There is no middle ground. We are all targeted for destruction, whether we are conservative or a liberal, BPD or non-BPD. Christian or non-Christian, it does not matter. I now understand what one BPD; in particular, meant by saying... if I go down, then you go down with me! Sobering to think you are hated so much by a living breathing human that is infested with demons. Elijah knew this well and hid from Jezebel crying out to be killed to end the mental torment being carried out in the spirit world. Make no mistake. You are loved and adored one moment, and must be destroyed the next by a full-blown BPD. Now you know what is meant by sleeping with one-eye-open! This does not come from God and does not come from the real-inner person being inflicted with BPD. It is the demons acting out their murderous spirit nature on you through a human being.

Today's news media seems to be contaminated heavily with deceiving lying spirits in all the mainstream media groups. This news media hides or keeps our public officials from being exposed of being overthrown with demonic spirits, controlling narcissistic evil that is taking us down a godless lawlessness road never seen before in the United States. This is a good example of the spirits that infest the minds of BPDs and causing their actions. There still is a decision made by BPDs or politicians in whom they are going to serve. I believe the Holy Spirit reveals to us in dreams and in our consciousness, the ability to discern right from wrong and miss any direction we are taking. Somehow evil spirits sway us into taking the wrong road leading us to destruction through this deception when we could have chosen truth and life and not be cursed through sin. We turned our backs on our first love, the love of Jesus Christ and the God we served in this nation but just a few years ago. After all, this is the assignment of demons handed down by the chain of command from Satan. To take any and everyone to judgment with them in the end times to be thrown in the lake of fire as a second death. Our nation was the one standing in defiance at one time for other nations that could not defend themselves. Even so, now the war machines have been manufactured by demon-possessed leaders of this country and others who have a love of money and power who are not God fearing, but whom have made themselves gods. We know how this is going to turn out. History repeats itself and the Book of Revelation has revealed the outcome. I have just heard a statement that over six billion lives will be lost in the Tribulation and destruction as the seals are opened and judgment falls as the horsemen describe in the Book of Revelation. There is an approximate estimate of just less than seven billion on the planet now. If the author I received this information from is only ten-percent right in their calculations from the Book of Revelation that is six-hundred million men, women and children that will die. Hell will be coming home for breakfast and we need to clean ourselves up and get ready to stand washed in the Blood of Jesus Christ before a righteous God. Over 60 million people were killed in World War II, which was over 2.5% of the world population at the time. Some estimates we are even higher at 78 million. That is a staggering number, but still does not come close to what is about to happen. So in conclusion of whether there is a difference in a conservative BPD or a liberal BPD, I think what emotions and logic they are able to control and utilize is heavily taxed since they are in an emotional fight from the time they wake up to when they finally close their eyes excluding night terrors and bad dreams of the very things that made them this way. Deep within them they have protected and preserved their real personality which is the real woman or man of God that God intended them to be. Not the tormented individual who acts out in ways that are revealed in their disorder. It must be extremely confusing in so many ways to be something they are not and not to have any real control over these emotions and actions that torment them and those who are in relationship with them.

The true calling to exercise healing and deliverance of God's people by Jesus Christ himself has been null at best. The truth that there really is a devil and a hell is real, has been kept from Christians because of the watering down of God's Word. This has been going on so long now by the Christian churches that we have lost a tremendous amount of ground when it comes to spreading the truth and what we were commanded to do. Ground, we should have been controlling for thousands of years now. Now, we are possibly breaking new unconstitutional laws passed by our own government by being obedient to God's Word. That telling the truth about God's Word and what he has to say about the sins that are running rampant in our nation is now a hate crime. The devil and his demons are experts, and have had twenty-four hours a day for thousands of years to perfect this deception. This same deception has infected billions of people on the earth, not just BPDs or other disordered people, including everyone from time to time, at one point or another. So in staying in the Word of God, receiving healing and deliverance, obeying the commandments of God is the only way to fight the evil that feeds on sin, thus resisting the devil and making him flee from you. This unfortunately is one of the hardest things for a BPD to do since they again have been hardwired to fight in the flesh, and even call on the demons to protect themselves from harm, or perceived harm; thus only continuing to sin and make new strongholds for legal rights of the demonic to control them and use them. Eventually, they destroy themselves or others in the process.

Truth is what demons hate. Truth, is what Satan hates because with it comes life through knowing who you are in Jesus Christ and knowing who a BPD is in Jesus Christ the Son of God. Remove the demons, restore the truth and step back and watch even the most infected BPD become full of life, love and happiness knowing they are loved and forgiven by the God of the Universe, the God of the Bible!

Chapter 11 - Whose job is it to cast out demons?

Why would God weep over us with our plight of possible eternal damnation, when all He would have to do is speak His spoken Word to end the battle with Satan and his demons? By doing so, this would eliminate this turmoil in the spirit world that affects us more than we could imagine. Why, because we have been given the responsibility and power to do it ourselves and overcome the dragon of destruction through the blood of Jesus Christ. Note the need for blood, there needs to be a blood sacrifice and that has been accomplished by God's Son, the Lord Jesus Christ generations ago. Now it's our turn to get to work and undertake the task at hand! Adam cursed man in the garden and through his sin, we have fallen out of relationship and lost the protection and covering through our own willful continued disobedience. So, God called on his Son to make it right, what was wronged. Now He is waiting on us to pick up the Sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God and fight for our lives and others. These are lives that have been spared because of one man who willingly sacrificed His life, and that was solely Yahshua. Since God is a gentleman, and has given us a free will to choose wrong or right, then He is going to allow our willful bad choice. Through His Word is wisdom and direction to be blessed, not cursed. So, if we choose curses through willful sin, then he will respect our right to parish by our own choice! As the saying goes... ignorance of the Law is no excuse and God's Word is the Law without being under the Law with what Jesus Christ did for us. So, in His Word, God through his Son has written in the New Testament that we ought to choose blessing and reject sin so all may go well with us. We will always be in a battle with Satan, and his demons until Revelation is fulfilled. Without God and the power of the Holy Spirit as our ally, we don't stand a chance. God has also told us through Jesus Christ to cast out demons, heal the sick and release the captives so all are freed. That is in respect of the Great Commission, one of the first things we should do, not the last. If it's done last, then the rest of the Great Commission commandments will never be accomplished because Satan will detour us with sickness, continual re-sinning that keeps us in bondage, and even premature death. This commandment encompasses not just you, but every man or woman sitting next to you in the pews under the nose of the pastors, who are ignoring this commandment. This is probable because the pastors themselves have not been properly cleansed and struggle with deep hidden sin and curses. They are tricked into never revealing what they have done or are doing because of the trap of shame that now ensnares them! This commandment would be a tall order without the Holy Spirit to release all who are infected. However, as Christians who are God fearing, but yet know who we are in Christ are given power beyond our comprehension to overcome Satan and his demons. That means you and I are given authority to trample on our adversary who dreams of killing us in cold blood, God's people, and forever sending them to a second fiery death. If today's church had not watered down the Gospel, and refrained from this in plain sight the instructions from the Bible on how to carry out our walk with God, we would not be in the condition we are in now. Not just us as Christians, but our nation and the world in general.

Most Christians I see are held captive with deception, brokenness with inner wounds that were inflicted by other Christians, and defeated with no more willingness to fight, alternatively, just not serving God as He had intended His Saints to do in helping others in spiritual depletion. Why? Because we have not been taught who we are in Christ with full repentance of what we are capable of doing while operating in the Spirit of God and that we are in a battle for our lives, our souls, loved one's souls, finances, property and to battle for other Saints.

We have been segregated into religions and beliefs that do not correspond to the Word of God, thus keeping us from being in agreement as to what God's Word says and God's intentions with instructions to stay in fellowship with each other. Thus, the sick and the dying are not able to defend themselves and are needlessly perishing because the so called physically and spiritually fit should be their defense agents and are not. The spiritually sick are unable to use the power of the Holy Spirit to war agents the infirmities that are taking them down like a pack of wolves on a defenseless sheep. Those packs of wolves are demons with specific task and assignments that are subject to the spoken Word of God from a man or woman of God to stand down. However, the spiritually sick have never been taught how, or the church failed to deliver God's Word to even let them know that it is possible.

Demons should have never gotten as far as they did in harming you, your parents, your siblings, or even your own children! The good news is that even a small child, who has been taught the Word of God and is anointed with the Spirit of God, has more power than any demons assigned to them or their family. When a family is in the Holy order of God and wars against such things, it is a threat to Satan's kingdom. If a spiritually mature Christian takes his position seriously in God's Kingdom, then who can stand against them?

So, whose job is it to cast out demons? All who are in Christ, all the way up and down the ladder of the church, from the pastor to the greeter at the door of your church. If they are not casting out demons and healing the sick with a biblical directed Healing and Deliverance Ministry then they're out of order. God is a God of order. If this is not so in your church, then you're in the wrong church and a non-compliant ministry is allowing the Saints in that church to be picked off one at a time. That lack of discernment will eventually find its way to the leadership, and the church will be subject to attacks from the enemy that will come from within. Probably, in the form of Jezebel blended with open narcissism, BPD behaviors and charismatic witchcraft that will infect all who are not putting on the full armor of God and standing against the wiles of the enemy!

Some asylums that have housed the mentally ill over the centuries have been known to have thousands of patient's parish in just one room alone. This is unacceptable and comes straight from the pit of hell to emotionally destroy all who were placed there. If we do not attend to business and start casting out demons now in our churches or other ministries, we are going to see this in our own homes, churches and hospitals once again. If you think I am exaggerating or crazy, then look where we are compared to ten, twenty, or forty years ago. Depravity has hit us within. We are killing our own children at thousands a day. Drugs are wiping out whole families. Even our own government is now revealing just how godless they really are. Do you remember when a congressmen, senator or even a president showed themselves as a God fearing man or woman? Now they reject God and are under the demonic influences of possibly Satan himself. This is why we need to cast out demons and heal the sick while we still can and get ready for the harvest that is going to come because God said it is, and be approved unto God for our obedience.

If for one minute you think, you are going to slip past Satan by ignoring him, you are terribly wrong! You and your family members will be under attack and will in time be picked off one at a time. I see this again and again. Nevertheless, as long as you are alive, and your loved ones are still drawing breathe on this earth you can come out fighting with the Sword of the Spirit and God at your side. You can take back all that has been taken from you and defend you and your family and win the good race as Paul the Apostle said to do.

You can imagine what it would be like to fight in the dark against an assailant that naturally has an ability to see in the dark you're every move you make. That is one way of describing the demons assigned to you and your family. It is the ability that we humans are not capable of doing, seeing in complete darkness. Thus giving us a handicap that proves many times to be such a disadvantage to us that we are sometimes killed where we stand and never saw it coming. Nevertheless, if you had night-vision goggles, a full automatic weapon with full body armor and trained on how to use them, you would stand a much better chance of securing your home and family as a safe place when the enemy attacks again. Yes, he will at the next opportunity attack again and again. You can fight back and throw those fowl spirits out one more time. Now, at the next battle you should be re-armed in the Word of God, and now have been battle proven from the past and they will sustain more damage on their end than on yours! All our weapons are spiritual since we do not fight again flesh and blood. So if we do not put on the full armor of God, then we will be wounded in our minds, hearts, souls and fall like the soldiers on any battleground that proved to be inferior to their enemies.

So stand and fight for your life and others. It is what God commanded us to do. And yes, God weeps for those who parish because they did not. However, He does allow all who have raised themselves above Him, and who have rejected Him to make their own choice of choosing curses not blessings prevail. We are all going to spend eternity somewhere; so this should be a no-brainer once the truth is revealed and the truth is only revealed through the complete Word of God and not what man has inserted into God's Word or eliminated. Being at the feet of Jesus Christ and not being sifted by Satan while we are still on this earth can only happen through repentance and obedience. Which one do you choose?

If you cannot find a local deliverance ministry or church to help, then here is an excellent resource to help you through self-deliverance and all the information, you will need at www.scotthensler.org. You'll also find other information on today's world issues as well as a deliverance ministry directory, prayer examples and links to Scott Hensler's radio shows.

www.scotthensler.org

It is time to finally walk with your head up and the smile on your face that has been missing for years. The smile and the warm feeling you know you are loved. That's what the devil stole from you..., and it can be restored.

Glory be to God!

Disclaimer

I would like to point out that I am not a physician or psychiatrist but a survivor of one of the most horrific disorders to ever walk out of hell itself. What I have written is based on my own experience and research with over a decade of helping others make it through the massive waves of demonic attacks on both BPDs and non-BPDs!

I do however know, that through my own experience, I have an understanding that others cannot even comprehend unless they have experienced it for themselves. Some of my information may not speak to those who are not affected by this disorder. However, for those who are in the middle of their worst nightmare, this information will help you by now understanding that you yourself are not crazy, and it is not your fault. The devil likes to play both sides by making you a victim, coming and going by convincing you that you are the one to blame. When in reality, the demonic is doing what they do best, and that is tormenting and causing destruction of God's people.

This information I am providing is an alternative means of assisting you in understanding of what you may or may have experienced, and you are seeking answers. I make no claim to any of the information provided as an alternative to medical or mental health practice treatments. I also cannot assume the legal responsibility of having the contents of this book considered as a cure for anyone. While reading this information I cannot assume any responsibility for the use made of this information contained in this book.

Pray about what I have written and let God help you make sense of all of this. After all, He is the Great Physician. Not man!

END